$15,000,000 Housing For Army Is Sought

REPRESENTATIVE W. FRANK JAMES, of Michigan, ranking minority member of the House Military Committee, this week introduced his $15,000,000 bill for the carrying on of Army construction.

The bill, the result of careful study and many visits to the posts involved, would authorize a total of approximately $15,000,000 providing housing for the following: 245 officers, 387 non-commissioned officers, 3,675 enlisted men, 312 patients in hospitals, and 78 nurses.

Construction under the present Army housing program began with the passage of the act Mar. 12, 1926. Congress has thus far authorized a total of $72,488,289 for Army housing construction, which sum will provide housing for the Army as follows: 1,496 officers, 1,672 non-commissioned officers, 28,640 enlisted men, 2,078 patients in hospitals, and 345 nurses.

Posts Listed

Following is a summary of the authorizations contained in Mr. James' new bill. Following the tabulation of the amounts authorized by the bill is a short statement of whatever additional construction would still be needed at that post under the present program.

Albrook Field, Canal Zone—$20,000 for Quartermaster maintenance building; and $42,000 for completion of post exchange, theater and gymnasium.

There will still be required the following to house the proposed garrison: 32 officers' quarters, 19 married non-commissioned officers' quarters, barracks for 110 men.

Barksdale Field, Shreveport, La.—$252,000 for 30 noncommissioned officers' quarters; $609,000 for 57 officers' quarters, including 32 bachelor apartments; $474,000 for barracks for 575 men; $225,000 for completion of hospital; $30,000 for completion of garage, and $15,000 for completion of quartermaster warehouse.

This leaves a balance of 16 noncommissioned officers and 56 officers still to be housed.

Wm. Beaumont General Hospital, Tex.—$7,000 for one noncommissioned officers' quarters, and $15,000 for a warehouse.

Ft. Benning, Ga.—$650,000 for barracks to accommodate 740 men.

There will still be necessary: Barracks for approximately 750 enlisted men, quarters for 183 officers, various miscellaneous buildings.

Ft. Bliss, Tex.—$150,000 for 10 officers' quarters, $50,000 for seven non-commissioned officers' quarters.

Construction at Bolling Field

Bolling Field, Anacostia, D. C.—$54,000 for seven noncommissioned officers' quarters; $30,000 for completion of dispensary; $45,000 for completion of post exchange, theater and gymnasium; $50,000 for officers' mess, and $95,000 for enlargement of central heating plant to provide for quarters area.

This leaves a balance of four married noncommissioned officers' and miscellaneous buildings still required.

Ft. Bragg, N. C.—$160,000 for 20 noncommissioned officers' quarters; $40,000 for completion of barracks.

To complete the program for this post, the following will be necessary: 25 officers' quarters; 11 non-commissioned officers' quarters, and various miscellaneous buildings.

Carlisle Barracks, Pa.—$200,000 for completion of central heating plant.

Additional construction of 28 noncommissioned officers' quarters and of various miscellaneous buildings will still be needed.

Chanute Field, Ill.—$137,000 for 16 noncommissioned officers' quarters, and

Commissioning Navy Class Voted in House

LEGISLATION to permit the commissioning of the entire Naval Academy class of 1932 as ensigns of the line of the Navy, temporarily permitting an excess in the authorized number of line officers in the lowest grade, was passed by the House on March 2.

Following a determined assault against the bill, led by Representative Byrns, Appropriations Committee chairman, the measure H.R. 8083, was approved by the House by a vote of 183 to 143. It must now go to the Senate and be approved by the President before becoming law. Although the bill bears an adverse recommendation from the Bureau of the Budget, passage by the House is believed to have removed the greatest obstacle from its path.

The bill was amended, with consent of the Naval Affairs Committee, to provide that the number of officers under the measure shall be carried as excess in the grade of ensign until 1937, with the intention, it was stated, that the legislation be only a temporary expedient, making it necessary that the total number of line officers be reduced by that time to number authorized by law. It was also intended by the amendment, it was said by its proponent, Representative McClintic, that future classes entering the Academy be served with notice that "we are not going to increase the percentage any further."

The text of the bill with the language added in bold type follows:

Be it enacted, etc., That the President of the United States is authorized, by and within the advice and consent of the Senate, to appoint as ensigns in the line of the Navy all midshipmen who graduate from the Naval Academy in 1932: Provided, That until after 1936, the number of such officers so appointed shall, while in excess of the total authorized number of line officers, be considered in excess of the number of officers in the grade of ensign as determined by any computation.

Representative McClintic proposed another amendment, which was defeated without a record vote. This provided "That any midshipman commissioned by this act shall not be eligible for retirement pay if separated from the service within a period of five years."

In support of his proposal, Mr. McClintic declared that in view of the "special consideration" being given the members of the 1932 class, "they would know beforehand," that at the end of five years, should it be necessary

Vessels to West Coast

ORDERS sending the Training Squadron and the Special Service Squadron to the Pacific ocean were announced this week by the Navy Department. The vessels, an old battleship, a light cruiser and eight destroyers, will report immediately to Vice Admiral Arthur L. Willard, Commander of the Scouting Force, in the San Pedro-San Diego area for participation in Fleet Problem XIII on the "Black" side, it was said.

The movement received wide attention both in this country and abroad, because of the unsettled conditions in China. At the Navy Department, however, it was simply stated that it was a plan for training personnel of the two squadrons which had been "under consideration since the maneuvers were first announced," and the expectation was expressed that the participation of these vessels in Fleet

Modification of Pay 'Freezing' Foreseen

INDICATION that final Congressional action in the matter of the ban on pay increases may be to limit the restriction to salaries above $3,000 per annum, was made this week when the Senate went on record to that effect.

The first of the appropriation bills, that for the Agriculture Department, was before the Senate, and the amendment of the Senate Appropriations Committee striking out the pay "freezing" provision proposed by the House was adopted by the Senate. Before the provision was struck out, however, it was amended, upon motion of Senator Park Trammell (Democrat), of Florida, making it only applicable to persons now receiving more than $3,000 per year compensation.

As the Senate Appropriations Committee in its report on the bill states that they recommend the pay increase ban be struck out so that "it can be perfected in conference," and the other appropriation bills will probably be handled in the same way, the action of the Senate in first approving an alternative proposal before adopting the committee's recommendation is significant in view of its possible effect on the Senate conferees in securing a compromise in the matter.

When conferees are appointed to reach an agreement between the House and the Senate as to provisions of the bill in dispute, the Senate representatives will have their conduct controlled to some extent by the vote of the Senate, and if the House will not give in, the Senate's action in approving Senator Trammell's statement will furnish a basis for a settlement.

Such a compromise on the restriction in the appropriation bills would exempt those in the Services who would be the most hurt, the lieutenants and nurses.

On Wednesday, Mar. 2, when the Agriculture bill was before the Senate, the committee's amendment striking out pay "freezing" provisions had been agreed to by the Senate, before Senator Trammell could get the floor to make his proposal. However, at his request the vote was reconsidered and his amendment adopted and then the committee's amendment as amended was approved. The debate on the matter appears below.

Mr. Trammell. Mr. President, the clerk read so rapidly and the amendment was approved so rapidly that we were given no opportunity to offer an amendment to the House text.

The Vice President. Does the Senator desire to offer an amendment to the House text?

Mr. Trammell. Yes; and for that purpose I shall be glad to have the action

Vote on Consolidation

THE House Committee on Expenditures in Executive Departments will again go into executive session this morning on proposed consolidation of Army and Navy into one Department of National Defense, Chairman John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, announced yesterday.

For the past two successive Saturdays, Representative Cochran has tried to get a vote on his consolidation bill, which combines features of the measure introduced by Representative Joseph W. Byrns (Democrat), Tennessee, with the bill of Representative William Williamson (Democrat), South Dakota.

A motion was made to adjourn when it became apparent that the committee was in disagreement on the issue at a meeting last Saturday. Mr. Cochran declined to predict what action the committee will take today.

"Of course I would like to see the bill reported out, but I don't know what the committee is going to do," he said.

More Duties for Army Engineers Discussed

SUGGESTIONS that all public construction activities be turned over to the War Department was made by Representative Frederick W. Dallinger (Republican), Massachusetts, at hearings Thursday before the House Expenditures Committee on two bills to establish an Administration of Public Works.

Representative Dallinger made the suggestion in the form of a question to Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde, called to testify on the bills. Secretary Hyde said he was not qualified to express an opinion on any feature of the construction problem outside of his own department.

Representative Dallinger pointed out that all public construction in the District of Columbia is under Army engineers, and an Army officer is in charge of District parks.

Would Transfer Roads

Chairman John J. Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, suggested the possibility of placing functions of the Bureau of Public Roads, now under the Department of Agriculture, under the Army Engineer Corps. He said it would furnish excellent training in line with the duties they might be called on to perform in time of war.

Although Secretary Hyde declined to express an opinion on the proposal, Representative William M. Whittington (Democrat), Mississippi, declared he "thought the chairman had presented an unanswerable argument for the transfer."

Representative John C. Schafer (Republican), Wisconsin, declared he considered roads "one of the main arms of the National Defense." He said he thought there were "better engineers in the Army than in the Bureau of Public Roads."

Secretary Hyde came to the defense of the efficiency of his bureau. He said it was largely supervisory in character, and engaged in actual construction of roads only on National Park and forestry projects. Although there would probably be some saving in personnel by consolidating government construction agencies, he said he felt sure there would be no improvement in the work of his bureau.

Seasonal Shifts

He said he did not oppose the suggested administration of Public Works, however, though he was opposed to transferring agricultural engineers engaged in forestry work to the central agency. He said he could not place his finger on one man who could be dropped from the bureau as a result of the proposed consolidation.

The advantage of the plan as he saw it, he said, would lie in the seasonal shifts of engineers from one department to another that would be possible under the act. Bureau of Public Roads engineers could assist Army engineers in the Summer when the department's work is slack, and vice versa, he said.

Representative Schafer said that should be possible under the present system, but Secretary Hyde declared interdepartmental coordination had never reached that stage.

"I think it would be a bad day for agriculture when agricultural engineers are taken out of the department and assigned to another agency," Secretary Hyde told the committee.

Representative Schafer asked the Secretary why he had not come before the committee with some facts on consolidation, reportedly accumulated by the administration.

"Are we to assume that all of this talk about consolidation from the White House is visionary, without any facts to sustain it?" the Wisconsin representative asked.

"The facts would not justify such an

Reduction Advocates Get No Support As Press Attacks Proposed Army Cuts

ALTHOUGH the proponents of a reduction in the Army are still holding back the 1933 War Department appropriation bill in the hope that the opposing wave of public opinion will subside, and the slashed bill can be pushed through, there is no indication that their expectation will be fulfilled. On the contrary, more and more expressions of the public will are heard daily indicating that the people would swiftly repudiate any leaders who, under the guise of economy, would place us in a position of insecurity. This is borne out all the more strongly by the fact that there has been virtually no editorial support for the proposed cuts.

IN New Orleans, the commercial center of the lower Mississippi Valley, is found the Tribune "regretting" that Representative Ross Collins, of Mississippi, is favoring Army reductions. "No great nation can afford to cut too hard its regular military establishments," states the Tribune. "We incline to believe that our own Government has already cut the Regular Army too close to the bone." Just now with a powder magazine touched off in Asia, it is unreasonable to feel that any very serious cut in Army and Navy appropriations will be approved. So the report that Mr. Collins' subcommittee will probably be ignored by Congress is not surprising. The surprising thing is that such a report should be brought in.  It seems hard to get into the heads of many of our fellow-citizens the elementary fact that the cost of wars is not enlarged, but minimized, by proper peace establishments on land and or sea."

"THE country will read with astonishment," comments the Passaic, N. J., Herald, "reports that a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee has proposed in the War Department appropriation bill to reduce the personnel of the Army by 10,000 men. Economy or no economy, the Army of the United States has been reduced to a minimum for years when the national defense needs of the country are considered. The Democratic House leaders will do themselves and the country no good if they back this proposed slash in the military forces of the United States. Even in an era when peace prevailed throughout the world the cut would have been unjustifiable. With a conflagration raging in the Far East which may involve many nations before it is reduced, the proposal is intolerable.  The full Committee on Appropriations should reject the proposal of the subcommittee. And if the measure goes to the House carrying the proposed reduction the House should turn it down."

"THE American people look to Congress, in these days of international crisis, for the leadership they have sought in vain from the Administration," declares the San Francisco Call-Bulletin. "They want their Navy built up, their Army built up, and their Air Service built up adequately to defend this country and its lawful interests.  It is too late to bewail the policy which has put reliance in the League and the League Court and the Kellogg pact instead of in ships, guns, planes and men. It is too late to say that the Administration bears the burden of guilt of blundering into a situation for which it is almost criminally unprepared. The only thing worth considering now is how to bring the national defense up to par as quickly and effectively as possible, and the only agency that can consider and accomplish it is Congress.  It is now incumbent upon the legislative branch of the Government to override the executive branch, and give the nation the defense machinery that is vital to its safety. The Navy must be built up to treaty strength, not allowed to fall to pieces, as is now the case. The air forces must be enlarged and modernized, not disorganized and demoralized, as is now the case. The Army must be increased, not diminished, as is now planned. The National Guard must be granted its necessary funds, not starved out, as is now planned. The military training camps which furnish a supply of officers for a citizen army must be continued and not abolished, as is now planned. There must be no trifling with national security in these grave hours."

"AT the start of the session," states the Minneapolis Tribune, "it appeared that the proponents of a big Army and a big Navy in Congress might be forced to capitulate to those who were urging the need of drastic economies in all Government departments and services. Now, however, the pendulum of sentiment seems to be swinging towards these same gentlemen, with the likelihood steadily increasing that both the Army and Navy will be treated with a great deal of respect and consideration so long as Shanghai and Geneva seethe with uncertainty.  It is easy enough for a nation to talk arms reduction when there is not a ripple on the surface of international affairs, but the slightest suggestion of a threat against its security never fails to revitalize all the latent emotions of fear, distrust and jealousy.  To contend that the abolition of arms must precede the abolition of national hates and fears is in a large

The "Purple Heart"

THE following changes in Army Regulations, necessitated by the revival of the "Purple Heart" decoration, have been announced by the War Department:

Purple Heart—Changes in AR 600-45, 600-95, 600-40, 40-1055, and 40-1065.—Pending the publication of changes in AR 600-45 (Personnel—Award and Supply of Decorations for Individuals), May 2, 1927, AR 600-95 (Personnel—Authority for Wearing, and Supply of, Wound and War Service Chevrons), March 31, 1922, AR 600-40 (Personnel—Wearing of the Uniform), June 22, 1931, AR 40-1055 (Medical Department—The Emergency Medical Tag), Feb. 18, 1927, and AR 40-1065 (Medical Department—Abbreviations for use on Emergency Medical Tags and Field Medical Records), Feb. 1, 1922, the following changes in these regulations are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

1. AR 600-45.

Paragraph 1a—Subparagraph (6) is added as follows:

(6) Purple Heart.

Subparagraphs (6) and (7) are changed to (7) and (8), respectively.

Paragraph 3 is changed to read:

How awards published—a. Other than the Purple Heart and the silver star.—Awards of decorations, other than the Purple Heart and the silver star, will be announced in War Department general orders.

b. (Added.) The Purple Heart.—Awards of the Purple Heart in forces operating in the field against an armed enemy are published in orders issued from the headquarters authorized to make the award. Other awards of this decoration will be announced in War Department general orders.

b. c.—Silver Star.—

Paragraph 6 is changed to read—By whom awards made.—a. Awards of decorations ***.

b. (Added.) Awards of the Purple Heart may also be made by a Division or higher commander in a United States force operating in the field against an armed enemy.

b. c.—Report of action taken, either favorable or unfavorable, upon recommendations for awards, including copies of papers and correspondence upon which action was based, and report of awards of the Purple Heart, will be forwarded to The Adjutant General for record. In the case of an award of the Purple Heart by other than the War Department, the commander making the award will immediately forward through channels to The Adjutant General for record a description of the act or service for which the individual was granted the Purple Heart, together with a full statement of the degree to put the cart before the horse, for as a matter of blunt truth, the world will not disarm until it ceases to hate and fear."

"FORTUNATELY for the country," says the Chicago American, "the American Legion can usually be relied on to come to bat on vital issues when the Government can not. National defense is a vital issue on which the Government, thus far, has not come to bat. The Army, Navy and air forces are far below strength, and in danger of further reduction. The executive branch of the Government is chiefly responsible for this. A part of the legislative branch shares in the responsibility. There has been a big pacifist drive in Washington, aided and abetted by certain members of Congress, to lay up ships, lay up planes, and lay up men that are needed for national safety. It has been camouflaged as an economy move.  Now, however, the Legion takes a hand in the argument—and if past experience is any guide, it will be a big hand. The Legion calls for the prompt enactment of the Vinson Navy bill, now sidetracked in the House. It calls for a real air force. It calls for an addition to the Regular Army, instead of a subtraction from it. The Legion has the great majority of the American people behind it in these demands.  Those Congressmen who put pacifism ahead of patriotism may not have seen the point yet. If so—with the Legion's kind assistance—they are going to have their eyes opened presently."

RECOUNTING the reductions proposed for the Army, the Berkeley, Calif., Gazette states: "All this is proposed in the magic name of economy. It is also broadly intimated that Congress is acting in deference to the wishes of the White House. President Hoover is said to desire a minimum of Army and Navy legislation to be considered in order that the United States may make a more favorable impression at the impending Geneva disarmament conference. It is not justifiable on either count."

"CONGRESS is not likely to tamper with the National Guard," comments the Philadelphia Public Ledger. "This organization has tremendous voting influence, to which every representative and Senator is subjected, and votes are a necessity of political life. Members of the Army and Navy ordinarily do not vote and the students at the citizens' military training camps are for the most part youngsters. So while the National Guard is probably safe, none of these other valuable organizations is secure from the economy knife.

"As a political gesture this bearing down on the Army and Navy is futile. As an economy measure it is rather dangerous folly."

UNDER the caption, "Leave the Army Alone," the Hartford Courant says: "According to the bill, 8,000 enlisted men and 2,000 commissioned officers would be dropped from the rolls; the Citizens' Military Training Camps would be suspended; the Reserve and the National Guard would find their activities greatly curtailed; the training of the regulars would be reduced and all salary raises and promotions would be forbidden. Desperately small as it is today to face any national emergency, the Army projected by the bill would be even less of a protection, while the second line of defense would be more seriously affected.

"Laudable as is the expression of a desire to economize on governmental activities, the Army is not the place to begin. So long as there is talk of war, no matter how far from home, the United States must be in a position to protect itself and its rights. An adequate Navy and an equally adequate Army are both essential. There are other and far less necessary places where reductions in pay and staff could and should be effected, but at this time in particular, the Army and Navy should be maintained at their highest possible efficiency."

"DON'T Weaken National Defense," declares the caption of an editorial in the Jamestown, N. Dak., Sun. "With the renewal of difficulties in the Far East in a critical form and the growing conviction that militarism is rapidly developing in Japan," the editorial declares, "more and more people are beginning to view with doubt many proposals which, advocated for economy, are believed to endanger the strength and efficiency of the Army and Navy of the United States. America will never engage in an offensive war, but every American believes that we should maintain an adequate defense."

THE Las Vegas, N. Mex., Optic states, "A proposal  calling for reduction of the Army personnel,  has been objected to by supporters of the Administration who believe that such a course would be not only false economy but a real danger to the security of the country.  The American people favor economy in government but not at the expense of the national safety and our legislative officials would do well to keep this in mind."

facts connected with the award and presentation.

Paragraph 11 1/2 is added as follows:

Purple Heart, to whom awarded.—a. The Purple Heart, established by General George Washington in 1782, is awarded to persons who, while serving in the Army of the United States, perform any singularly meritorious act of extraordinary fidelity or essential service. (A wound, which necessitates treatment by a medical officer, and which is received in action with an enemy of the United States, or as a result of an act of such enemy, may, in the judgment of the commander authorized to make the award, be construed as resulting from a singularly meritorious act of essential service.) (See War Department General Orders, No. 3, Feb. 22, 1932.) (See par. 3c, AR 40-1055.)

Paragraph 12 is changed to read—

Oak-leaf cluster, to whom awarded.—

No more than one medal of honor, or one distinguished-service cross, or one distinguished-service medal, or one soldier's medal, or one distinguished flying cross, or one Purple Heart shall be issued to any one person; but for each succeeding deed, act, or achievement sufficient to justify the award of a medal of honor, or a distinguished-service cross, or a distinguished-service medal, or a soldier's medal, or a distinguished flying cross, or a Purple Heart, respectively, a bronze oakleaf cluster shall be awarded in lieu thereof. Oak-leaf clusters are worn as prescribed in AR 600-40. See Act Jan. 24, 1920 (41 Stat. 398; U. S. C. 10: 1411), and secs. 11 and 12, act July 2, 1926 (44 Stat. 789; U. S. C. 10:1428, 1429).

Paragraph 13.—In subparagraph a, third line, change the reference to "paragraph 3b" to read "paragraph 3c."

Paragraph 16 is changed as follows:

Time limits.

d. (Added.) Purple Heart.

(1) For acts or service prior to Feb. 22, 1932.—Awards of the Purple Heart for acts or service performed prior to Feb. 22, 1932, will be confined to the following persons:

(a) To those who, as members of the Army of the United States, have been awarded the Meritorious Service Citation Certificate by the Commander-in-Chief of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War and who make application to exchange the certificate for the Purple Heart and oakleaf clusters pertaining to it.

(b) To those who are authorized to wear wound chevrons as prescribed in AR 600-95, and who make application for the Purple Heart and oakleaf clusters pertaining to it.

(c) To those persons not authorized, prior to Feb. 22, 1932, to wear the wound chevron, who would otherwise have been authorized to wear the same

Naval Academy Class

(Continued from First Page) sary to reduce the number of officers in the Navy as a result of the adoption of the previous amendment, that they would not be eligible for retired pay.

Chairman Vinson opposed the amendment, declaring that "If these boys are given a commission they should have every right and every provision of law in their favor that applies to any other officer of the United States Navy." Amid applause, the proposal was voted down.

During the debate on the bill on the floor of the House, Chairman Vinson, of the Naval Committee, and Representative Fred Britten, ranking Republican of the group, were the principal advocates of the measure. They were ably assisted by Representative Ralph A. Horr, Republican, from the First District of Washington. Mr. Horr, who is serving his first term in Congress and is not a member of the Naval Affairs Committee, ripped into those who advocate letting national defense preparations go until the advent of war.

Those who spoke against the bill included Representatives Byrns, of Tennessee, Ross Collins, of Mississippi, and Tom Blanton, of Texas, Democrats, and Representatives Will R. Wood, of Indiana, John Taber, of New York, Albert Johnson, of Washington, Burton L. French, of Idaho, William Stafford, of Wisconsin, and Hamilton Fish, of New York, Republicans.

Representative McClintic supported the bill on the floor and voted for it after his second amendment had been voted down.

Chairman Vinson opened the debate on the bill by explaining its purpose and the desirability of enacting it. In reply to a question as to the advisability of reducing the number of entrants to the Naval Academy rather than refusing commissions to graduates, Mr. Vinson declared,

"Congress anticipated last year that we would be confronted with this same proposition and reduced the appointment from four to three, and if this condition continues we will be compelled to reduce it from three to two."

"What circumstance," then asked Representative Wood, "is in the way of retiring a number of the older officers and advancing others to permit this graduating class?"

"We thought last year we would bring in a bill that would accomplish that purpose," Mr. Vinson interrupted him to state, "and we passed what is known as the Britten bill, hoping that by that there would be an attrition of three or four hundred officers, but the economic conditions are such that these officers who had the privilege to retire have refused to retire, and we have either got to force them out of the Navy with one year's pay very soon, or else we will be compelled in a short time to come here and ask that the Appropriations Committee only provide for two midshipmen. If the economic condition of the country had been such, about 400 or 500 officers who came into the Service during the war, would automatically have gone out of the Navy, and it would not have been necessary to have this bill, because last year we passed the so-called Britten bill, to eliminate this conges-

(2) For acts or service after Feb. 22, 1932.—For acts or service performed subsequent to Feb. 22, 1932, the Purple Heart will not be awarded after more than three years from the date of such act or service, nor unless the recommendation therefor shall have been made at the time of such act or service, or within two years thereafter. e. Posthumous award.

(4) Purple Heart.—The Purple Heart can not be awarded posthumously.

Paragraph 18 is changed by changing the present subparagraph d to e, and by adding a new subparagraph d as follows:

d. Purple Heart.—Whenever the Purple Heart or its representative devices shall have been lost, destroyed or rendered unfit for use, without fault or neglect on the part of the person to whom it was awarded, the decoration or devices shall be replaced without charge therefor.

2. AR 600-95.—Paragraph 3 is changed by adding subparagraph e as follows:

e. Termination of authority.

(1) Authority to wear the wound chevrons will not be granted subsequent to Feb. 22, 1932, but persons who, prior to Feb. 22, 1932, have been authorized to wear wound chevrons, may continue to wear them. (See par. 16d (1) (b) AR 600-45.)

(2) Persons applying after Feb. 22, 1932, for authority to wear wound chevrons on account of wounds received prior to Feb. 22, 1932, who would otherwise be authorized to wear same under the provisions of this regulation, will, in lieu thereof, be awarded the Purple Heart. (See par. 16d (1) (c), AR 600-45.)

3. AR 600-40.—Paragraphs 50 and 53 are changed as follows:

Paragraph 50.—Subparagraph a(2), (3) and (4) is changed as follows:

(2) The distinguished-service cross, the distinguished-service medal, the soldier's medal, the distinguished flying cross, the Purple Heart, the Navy Cross, the gold life-saving medal and the Navy cross, the gold life-saving medal and * * * are worn on the left lapel.

(3) Oak-leaf clusters will be worn on the ribbon of the appropriate decoration, the ribbon being lengthened, if necessary.

(4) Citation stars will be worn above all battle clasps on the ribbon of the service medal for the campaigns for service in which the citations were awarded. The citation star will also be worn on the corresponding service ribbon, a separate ribbon being worn for each silver star awarded: i.e., three stars will call for four ribbons, first the basic ribbon, then additional ribbons bearing one star for the first additional citation, two for the second, and three for the third.

Paragraph 53.—Subparagraph b is changed as follows:

b. Bronze stars.—Bronze stars are worn on the service ribbon to indicate possession of the clasps referred to in paragraph 41b(1) to (14), inclusive, AR 600-35, a star for each clasp. They will be worn on the basic service ribbon only and not on the ribbon with which citation stars are worn.

Subparagraph c(2) is changed as follows:

(2) A miniature oak-leaf cluster will be worn on the appropriate service ribbon, a separate ribbon being worn for each cluster awarded; i.e., three clusters will call for four ribbons; first the basic ribbon, then additional ribbons bearing one cluster for the first additional citation, two for the second, and three for the third.

4. AR 40-1055.—Paragraph 3c is changed as follows:

c. Under the "Diagnosis" will be recorded the essential facts concerning the character of disease or injury, such as fracture, the parts involved, the cause, etc. In the case of wounds received in action with an enemy of the United States, or as a result of an act of such enemy (see par. 11½, AR 600-45), the diagnosis "Wounded in action" (WIA) will be entered, and in the case of the dead found on the field, the diagnosis "Killed in action" (KIA), if applicable, will be entered, with such other information as is prescribed in paragraph 7c.

5. AR 40-1065.—Paragraph 2 is changed by adding at the end of the list the following:

WIA—Wounded in action.

Orders also went out this week, cancelling the movement schedule of the Navy transport Henderson, which is now at San Diego, and directing the vessel to remain there for the time being. The Henderson was due to make the trip to the East Coast through the Panama Canal, leaving on March 1.

Although this decision has been interpreted as meaning that the vessel is being held in readiness for emergency shifts of personnel, it is stated at the Navy Department that the step was taken solely because of the absence of the Chaumont which is still at Shanghai. With the latter transport held indefinitely in China for possible evacuation of American citizens, the entire burden of handling the routine transfers of personnel will fall on the Henderson and the vessel is to remain at San Diego until a new schedule can be worked out.

The Navy Department announcement as to the movement of the Training and Special Service Squadrons follows in full:

"Under orders of the Navy Department, the Training Squadron of the Scouting Force and the Special Service Squadron will report to Vice Admiral Arthur L. Willard, USN, Commander Scouting Force, in the San Pedro-San Diego area for participation in Fleet Problem XIII.

"Ships of the two squadrons will join the "Black" force, which under command of Vice Admiral Willard will resist an attempt of the "Blue" force to seize a foothold on the Pacific Coast. The "Blue" force, consisting of units of the Battle Force recently engaged in joint exercises with the Army off Hawaii, will sail from Hawaiian waters about March 8 under command of Adm. Richard H. Leigh, USN, to accomplish its mission.

"Ships which will be added to Vice Admiral Willard's force by these orders include the following:

"Training Squadron—USS Arkansas, battleship; USS Claxton, Fairfax, Taylor, Hamilton, Evans and Tillman, destroyers.

"Special Service Squadron—USS Memphis, light cruiser; USS Wickes

The Journal Salutes

THIS week the Army and Navy Journal salutes:

Brig. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne, USA, who has been named Assistant Chief of Staff, War Plans Division, War Department General Staff;

Midshipman Richard S. Mandelkorn, First Class, U. S. Naval Academy, who has been declared winner of the Military Order of Foreign Wars Prize;

Lt. Col. Ralph Chesney Bishop, FA-Res., for his important work in determining the value of military education in American schools and colleges.

and Philip, destroyers.

Adm. Wm. V. Pratt, USN, Chief of Naval Operations, today in reply to questions from the press, commented as follows: "This will give personnel of the Training Squadron and the Special Service Squadron an opportunity to take part in Fleet maneuvers, and is a plan for training we have had under consideration since the maneuvers were first announced. We hope to make it a routine matter in the future, where, as in the present case, it will not interfere with regular schedules."

USNR Inspection

THE Naval Reserve Inspection Board, headed by Capt. John Downes, USN, president, will conduct an inspection of Naval Reserve units in the following cities: Rock Island, Ill., March 7; Burlington, Iowa, March 8; Peoria, Ill., March 9; Indianapolis, Ind., March 10.

Capt. Alexander Sharp, Jr., USN, will accompany Captain Downes. Capt. Halsey Powell, USN, attached to Headquarters, Ninth Naval District, will aid in these inspections.

... Another proof of BOEING QUALITY!

4,958 flying hours unmarred by accident and distinguished by remarkable aerial maneuvers! That record, set by the skilled pilots of the "Fighting Three," flying 18 Wasp powered Boeing fighters, won the coveted Schiff Memorial Trophy.

600,000 miles in close or open formations . . . 1,500 hours over open seas . . . 861 take-offs from airplane carriers and the same number of landings, 18 planes landing considerably faster than one a minute . . . close wing and tail parade formations . . . dog fighting far aloft . . . 300-mile-an-hour dives from freezing altitudes.

Such performance is ordinary routine for Boeing fighters. For into them—as into every type of Boeing plane, military and commercial—is built stamina for the hardest jobs a plane can tackle.

There is no substitute for Boeing quality.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY

Machine Gun Instruction

A WAR DEPARTMENT letter regarding employment of additional machine guns and machine gun instruction has been issued as follows:

"1. The amount of fire power needed during combat, either offensive or defense, varies with the situation. Additional fire power is needed primarily to assist the unit which has encountered the greatest hostile reaction. For instance, in the attack, some units may be held up or even forced on the defensive temporarily, while others advance. Additional fire power is particularly needed where the units are stopped.

"2. The effort to increase the fire power of some organizations has resulted in the lengthening of columns in march, complicated Tables of Organization and increase in impedimenta.

"3. The employment of additional machine guns within Infantry, Cavalry and Engineer units, is the most effective method of securing additional fire power at the specific place and at the correct time. Extra machine guns carried in the combat trains of these units will insure prompt additional fire power without lengthening their columns, changing their present organization or adding unnecessary equipment.

"4. In view of the importance of this mechanical fire, all enlisted men of Regular Army Infantry rifle companies, Cavalry rifle troops, lettered companies, Engineer combat regiments and lettered troops of Engineer Squadrons, will be given the necessary training in the handling and use of machine guns so that they will be able to use them in combat.

"5. This training will be accomplished without increase in small arms ammunition allowances or change in regulations governing additional compensation for qualification with machine guns.

"6. For peace-strength organizations two (2) extra machine guns and for war-strength organizations four (4) extra machine guns per Infantry rifle company, Cavalry rifle troop, lettered company, Engineer combat regiment and lettered troop Engineer Squadron, will be carried in the combat train. To insure that all personnel receive combat training in the use of machine guns, these extra guns will be employed during field exercises and maneuvers.

"7. The Chief of Ordnance will issue the necessary minimum equipment to carry out this training. No animals or carts will be issued for this purpose.

Ft. Warren Notes

Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo.—The 20th Infantry has adopted the custom of holding weekly regimental assembly. It is held immediately after the 10 o'clock regimental parade each Thursday morning in the Post Theatre. Talks on matters of common interest and policy are made by Col. Andrew J. Dougherty, Regimental Commander, and by other officers who have anything to take up with the regiment as a whole. Songs, led by Mr. George Zepf, band leader, are sung by the entire regiment.

At the weekly regimental assembly held in the Post Theatre on Feb. 14, the 20th Infantry had as its guest Miss Phyllis McMullen, of Cheyenne, Wyo. Miss McMullen was the local champion in the Atwater Kent Radio Corporation National Contest for singing held last autumn. The officers of the regiment, their ladies and the enlisted men all praised Miss McMullen's singing and hope to have the pleasure of hearing her again in the near future.

Ft. Meade Notes

Ft. Meade, S. D.—The Ft. Meade Dramatic Club, which has been busily engaged for the past few weeks in rehearsing two one-act plays and a review sketch, gave their first public exhibition in the Post Auditorium on Saturday, Feb. 27.

The troops of this command are devoting several hours each day to indoor rifle practice in preparation for the regular annual target season.

The result of the bowling Friday night, Feb. 19, in the Post Bowling League, was as follows: The Medical Detachment defeated Troop B, 4th Cav., by the score of 2,458 to 2,353, and the Headquarters Troop defeated Troop A, 4th Cav., by the score of 2,265 to 2,198. This places Troop A, 4th Cav., at the head of the league with a percentage of 800.

Troop F, 4th Cav. also leads the basketball league with the percentage of .833, having won five of the six games played.

The weather for the past week has been warm, the thermometer ranging from 15 to 50 above zero. Country roads are reported in poor condition due to the heavy thaws.

Sergeant Smith Retires

Headquarters, Ft. Brady, Mich.—Mr. Sgt. Stanley Smith, of Ft. Brady, retired Feb. 29, after over 27½ years of actual service in the United States Army. Two and one-half years of his service were of such an arduous and hazardous nature that, by Act of Congress, they counted as double time toward his retirement.

He has been awarded the Mexican Border Campaign Medal, a Silver Star Citation (awarded at Connigis, France, in July, 1919), and the World War Victory Medal.

Sergeant Smith is famous throughout the Army for his excellence as a marksman with both the Service rifle and the Service pistol. In addition to the outstanding scores that he repeatedly made during annual target practice seasons he fired on the Inter-Allied Team at LeMons, France, in 1919, winning first place in the individual matches; the American Expeditionary Forces Team at Caldwell, N. J., in 1919; the United States Infantry Rifle Team in 1915, 1920, and 1921; and has earned the titles of Distinguished Rifleman and Distinguished Pistol Shot.

Sergeant Tipton Retires

THIRTY years in the Army without appearing on sick report or being subjected to any disciplinary action is the service record of Mr. Sgt. Harvey B. Tipton, Service Company, 12th Infantry, who will pass to the retired list by War Department order on Feb. 29, 1932, at his present station, Ft. Howard, Md.

Sergeant Tipton first joined the 12th Infantry, then stationed in the Philippines, on Feb. 29, 1904, exactly 28 years to a day preceding his retirement. Most of his service since that date has been with the 12th Infantry, and all his discharges bear the character "Excellent."

Army Industrial College

Washington, D. C. Washington, D. C. Schedule for March follows:

General Nolan Visits

New York, N. Y.—Maj. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, commanding the Second Corps Area, accompanied by his aide de camp, Capt. Frank A. Allen, jr., recently paid a formal visit to Gov. G. Douglass Buck, of Delaware.

Upon his arrival at Wilmington, General Nolan was met by Brig. Gen. W. E. Stover, Adjutant General of the State, and escorted to the Wilmington offices of Governor Buck.

Since assuming command of the Second Corps Area General Nolan has paid similar formal visits to Governor Roosevelt, of New York, and Governor A. Harry Moore, of New Jersey, the chief executive of the two other States comprising the Corps Area.

THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

Exactly what you would expect this year from the world's largest builder of passenger cars

CHEVROLET During 1931, the American public bought more Chevrolets than any other make of automobile. This leadership in sales was attained by giving buyers in the low-price field more value for every dollar. And in the new Chevrolet Six, you'll find exactly what you'd expect this year from the world's largest builder of automobiles—a low-priced car offering so much for the money that it represents the Great American Value. You'll find a car of tested quality and proven worth. Embodied in it are those same fundamental factors of dependability and economy which millions of satisfied Chevrolet owners have proved beyond any question of doubt. You'll find a car that is up-to-the-minute in every respect—with all the newest thrills of modern motoring: 65 to 70 miles an hour speed. Flashing pick-up. 60-horsepower climbing and pulling ability. Easy, non-clash Syncro-Mesh shifting. And simplified Free

Wheeling. You'll find bodies that no other low-priced car can provide: big, comfortable Fisher bodies. Styled in the smartest modern manner. Built of wood-and-steel for strength and silence. Complete with all the features that have given Fisher an international reputation for superior coachwork. You'll find the perfect type of engine for a car of lowest price—a scientifically designed six—combining built-in multi-cylinder smoothness with unequalled economy. With more than six cylinders, you can't enjoy Chevrolet's low operating cost. Be sure to see and drive the new Chevrolet Six before buying any low-priced car. Compare it from every standpoint that has to do with motoring satisfaction: beauty—comfort—performance—riding ease—economy—dependability—re-sale value. Make that comparison, and you'll reach this conclusion: the new Chevrolet Six is clearly the Great American Value!

The Board recommended that the name of Sgt. Clifford Cheshire be removed from the list published in Bulletin of Oct. 15, 1930, and that the name of Sgt. Edgar A. Hartman be removed from the list published in Bulletin of April 15, 1931, this was done. The names of Sgt. Rex R. Stillwell and John Pederson were dropped from the eligible list for staff sergeant, mechanical, because these men are in the Signal Complement and are carried on that roster.

Due to the lack of vacancies, comparatively few promotions were made during the period July to December, 1931, from the roster prepared in accordance with the provisions of Art. 6-24 (8), Marine Corps Manual. The names remaining on the roster (except those mentioned in preceding paragraph) were in certain ranks more than sufficient to fill the estimated needs of the Corps for the ensuing six months. In other ranks a few names were added to meet the expected needs. The non-appearance on this roster of additional names of men who were recommended by their commanding officer should not necessarily be construed to mean that they were not considered worthy or qualified for promotion. All recommendations submitted to the January Board will be resubmitted to the July, 1932, Board.

Navy Broadcast Installations

THE Bureau of Engineering has been able to furnish a broadcast radio-frequency distribution system to new construction and to vessels being modernized. Limitation of funds has prevented the expenditure of engineering funds for similar installation on vessels in commission.

Several different systems have been installed and performances compared. The systems divide themselves into two general classes, audio-frequency distribution of from one to three programs and radio-frequency distribution utilizing a large number of commercial receivers, each selecting any desired program on the air.

After comparative tests of the two systems and after comments from the forces afloat, the Bureau of Engineering has specified the radio-frequency distribution for installations in which engineering funds are involved. However, in cases where ship's service funds are used in purchasing this equipment, the bureau has no objection to the installation of the other type system and will approve such installations upon request.

The radio-frequency system installed in a battleship recently modernized consists of one single antenna, which is branched into two lines through untuned radio-frequency amplifiers. The distribution lines are made of a special cable in which the distributed capacity and inductances are so balanced as to pass the frequencies of the broadcast band with minimum attenuation. The output and input impedances are also matched, thereby eliminating electrical wave reflections commonly found in nonbalanced networks. The combination of the untuned radio-frequency antenna and the low-loss distribution cable results in giving each receiver on the line a better antenna than an independent antenna attached directly to the receiver. The battleship concerned has 63 water-tight receiver outlets of bureau design distributed throughout the ship. The various cabins, messes, and compartments have conventional commercial type radio receivers which are capable of independent tuning of any broadcast program within the normal range of the receiver. It is apparent that the principal advantage of the radio-frequency distribution plan lies in the fact that only one antenna is required and that incidental preferences as to program are possible.

The Bureau of Engineering is in receipt of many inquiries about simplified systems to replace the multiplicity of broadcast antennas about ships. Engineering funds are not available for furnishing this equipment. Ships desiring to purchase any type system are urged to communicate with the main offices of the companies concerned rather than with local agents, as it has been noted that the companies have made studies of ship installations which have not been made available to local agents. Time, effort and money may be saved by this procedure.

Communication Engineering

THE Bureau of Navigation plans to assign five or six radio electricians or chief radio electricians for an eight months' course of instruction in communication engineering, at the Naval Research Laboratory, Bellevue, D. C., beginning on or about Oct. 1, 1932. Application for assignment to this course should reach this Bureau prior to July 1, 1932.

Candidates for this course should take every opportunity of reviewing mathematics prior to reporting at Bellevue, it is stated. They should have a good working knowledge of arithmetic, including fractions, decimals, ratio and proportion, and powers and roots.

Commanding officers are requested to include in their forwarding endorsements an estimate of the candidates' qualifications, based on paragraph two above.

Celebrates 22nd Birthday

REAR ADM. COLBY MITCHELL CHESTER, USN, ret., who was born on Feb. 29, 1844, celebrated his twenty-second birthday anniversary last Monday. Admiral Chester, the second oldest living graduate of the United States Naval Academy, was placed on the retired list of the Navy in 1906 after 47 years' active naval service and subsequently returned for five years' active duty in the Navy.

Admiral Chester was born Feb. 29, 1844, in New London, Conn., and was appointed a midshipman in 1859. Graduating from the Naval Academy in 1863, Admiral Chester was commissioned an acting ensign and ordered to duty in the USS Richmond, steam sloop. He took an active part in the Battle of Mobile Bay, Aug. 5, 1864, and the bombardment and capture of Ft. Morgan, Aug. 22, 1864. During temporary duty in the monitor Kickapoo, Acting Ensign Chester took part in the operations leading up to the capture of Mobile, Ala., on April 12, 1865.

At the close of the Civil War, he was ordered to duty in ships of the South Pacific Station and rose through the grades of master and lieutenant to lieutenant commander. He joined the USS Alaska, steamer, on the Asiatic Station, Dec. 1, 1869, and in 1871 had charge of the steam launches of a squadron of the Asiatic Fleet, which were surveying Salee River, Corea, when they were fired upon by the fortifications at its entrance.

In 1873, Admiral Chester was ordered to the Naval Academy and during the Summer of 1875 he served as executive officer of the frigate Constellation, used as a practice ship at the Academy.

In 1888, when a commander, he was appointed a member of the commission to select a site for a Navy Yard on the Pacific Coast of the United States "north of the forty-second parallel of north latitude." Point Turner, on Puget Sound, the site of the present Puget Sound Navy Yard, was selected by this commission. From April, 1891, to 1894, Commander Chester had another tour of duty at the Naval Academy, and had command of the Constellation, and in 1894 served as Commandant of the Midshipmen.

In June, 1896, he was promoted to captain and was in command of the USS Cincinnati, cruiser, and also was commander of the South Atlantic Station at the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, at which time the Cincinnati joined the North Atlantic Station as flagship of Commodore J. Crittenden Watson, USN. Captain Chester was in command of the USS Kentucky from January, 1909, to March, 1910, and cruised by way of the Mediterranean to the Asiatic Station. He reported for duty at the Naval War College, Newport, R. I., June 1, 1901, and in November, 1902, was appointed Superintendent of the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C. During this tour of duty he was promoted to the grade of rear admiral.

In June, 1905, Admiral Chester was given command of a special squadron which cruised to the Mediterranean to witness the total eclipse of the sun. After the eclipse, Admiral Chester was given permission to visit the observatories of European countries. He returned to the United States in December, 1905, and on Feb. 28, 1906, was placed on the retired list of the Navy upon reaching the statutory retirement age, which at that time was 62 years.

Admiral Chester remained on active duty on a special assignment in the Bureau of Equipment, Navy Department, until 1908, when he was appointed a delegate to the Ninth International Congress of Geography at Geneva. Upon the expiration of that duty, he was authorized to remain abroad for one year.

During the World War, Admiral Chester, then 73 years old, was recalled to active service and was appointed Commandant of the Naval Unit at Yale University. He also organized the naval units at Brown University and at Columbia University and served until April, 1919.

Admiral Chester now resides at 1828 Eye Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

USMC Warrant Eligibles

IN ACCORDANCE with the recommendations of the recent Marine Corps Board to prepare eligible lists of candidates for appointment to warrant grades, and with the approval of the Secretary of the Navy, appointments to fill vacancies occurring in the warrant grades of the Marine Corps, will be made, subject to the prescribed examination, from the noncommissioned officers of the Marine Corps, whose names appear below:

The Board recommended that the next board consider only cases of non-commissioned officers recommended during the calendar year, 1932, and those whose names appear on the eligible list printed herewith. This was approved.

Commended by Secretary

A LETTER of commendation from the Secretary of the Navy has been sent to Luther Byford Yoke, Chief Boatswain's Mate, USN, attached to the USS Oahu, gunboat of the Yangtze Patrol, for his rescue of the passengers of a motor boat on the Yangtze River and caring for them until they were taken aboard the USS Tutuila, two and one-half days later.

Yoke was on duty as an armed guard for the Yangtze Rapids S. S. M-V ITU on a trip from Ichang to Shungking when she caught fire on Nov. 15, 1931, at Mileage 237 above Ichang and was totally burned in about 20 minutes. Yoke assisted in getting the passengers ashore in sampans and caring for them until they were taken aboard the USS Tutuila.

Bandit Skirmish

L. COL. CALVIN B. MATTHEWS, USMC, commanding the Nicaraguan National Guard Detachment, has reported to the Department that a patrol of 21 enlisted Guardia under command of Lieutenants Mendoza and Zavala, Nicaraguan officers, had contact on Feb. 28 with a bandit group numbering 250 under leadership of Colendres, Salgado and Umanzor of the Nueva Segovia province, at Nacascolo on the border of Esteli and Leon Provinces.

The contact, during which the bandits used Browning automatic rifles, Thompson sub-machine guns and rifle grenades, lasted half an hour. One Guardia was wounded; known bandit casualties were two dead and several wounded.

Present Musical Comedy

Ft. Benning, Ga.—The Main Theater at Ft. Benning, Ga., was packed to the door on both nights, Feb. 19 and 20, when the Benning Glee Club offered the popular musical comedy, "The Red Mill."

Without a doubt it was the most pretentious production ever attempted at the Infantry School. In the past the constantly changing personnel at the post has made it possible for the Glee Club to offer many noteworthy productions, including "Pinafore," "The Pirates of Penzance," "The Mikado," "The Prince of Pileen" and other musical comedies. However, the musical and dramatic training, the scenery and costumes of "The Red Mill" called for a much greater effort on the part of all concerned than any former production. Not only in attendance were all previous records broken, but a new high standard was established in ensemble work, dramatic efforts, costumes, and scenic effects. This is attested by critics both in civil and military circles. Scores of Columbia citizens, including a large quota of Columbus society, attended. More than a hundred of them made a social event of the occasion by arranging for a supper at the Officers' Club preceding the show.

Chorus Singing a Hit

To single out any one person of the large cast of 81 people as the star, would be extremely difficult. The principals were considered an all-star aggregation, while many claim that the real hit of the evening was scored by the singing of the chorus. All united in the opinion that Maj. H. B. Lewis and Lt. L. Leone as Con Kidder and Kid Conner were a close approach as comedians to the original team of Montgomery and Stone. Many additional laughs enjoyed by the audience were contributed by Nellie Mae Patrick, as Barmaid; Capt. G. F. Bloomquist, as Keeper of Red Mill Inn, and Maj. E. W. Leard, as the Sheriff.

The beautiful and popular numbers, "Isle of My Dreams" and "Moonbeams," sung by Mrs. J. R. Moon, as Gretchen, and Lt. C. O. N. Lodeon, as Captain Van Broeck, captivated the music lovers, while Mrs. F. E. Gaillard, as Bertha, and Capt. G. F. Hedge, as the Governor, responded to many curtain calls following the rendition of their solos and duets.

Ch. W. T. Howard made an excellent and forceful Burgomaster, while Mrs. H. L. Reeder as Countess De La Fere, and Lt. A. S. O'Flaherty, as Hector Pennyfeather, a solicitor, were perfectly cast and added much to the thrill of the "Accident" scene.

Although praise has been lavished on members of the cast for the success of the enterprise, those to whom major credit should be given are Col. W. L. Reed, president of the Glee Club and production manager; Mrs. O. Cleveland, dramatics; Mr. E. H. Vonderau, musical director; Miss Landon Reed, costumes, and Capt. Virgil Bell, scenic architect.

An added feature of the production was the spectacular tap-dancing offered by eight young ladies of the post, trained by Miss Anna Dozier, who, as soloist, offered a beautiful number, which was well received.

The Cast

Willem, Keeper of Red Mill Inn, Capt. G. F. Bloomquist.

Franz, Sheriff of Katwyk-ann-Zee, Maj. E. W. Leard.

Tina, Barmaid, Willem's daughter, Mrs. E. D. Patrick.

The Burgomaster, Ch. W. T. Howard.

Bertha, Burgomaster's sister, Mrs. F. E. Gaillard.

Gretchen, Burgomaster's daughter, Mrs. J. R. Moon.

"Kid" Conner, "Con" Kidder (Two Americans Doing Europe), Lt. L. Leone and Maj. H. B. Lewis.

Capt. Jan Van Broeck, in love with Gretchen, Lt. G. O. N. Lodeon.

Countess De La Fere, automobiling with her sons through Holland, Mr. H. L. Reeder.

Hector Pennyfeather, solicitor, Lincoln's Inn Fields, automobiling with his daughters through Holland, Lt. A. S. O'Flaherty.

Governor of Zeeland, engaged to Gretchen, Capt. G. R. Hedge.

SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1932

"No government will be disposed to violate our rights if it knows we have the means and are prepared and resolved to defend them."—JAMES MONROE.

BECAUSE OF THE JAPANESE operations in China, which has brought home to America the danger of unpreparedness, there is a more intelligent understanding of the importance of national defense in Washington. Proof of the fact is furnished by the passage by the House of the bill authorizing the appointment as Ensigns of all graduates of the Naval Academy this June. As we have stated in our news columns, it was the plan of the Democratic leaders to reduce the personnel of the Navy as well as that of the Army, but that plan seems to be less appealing to the Democratic membership than had been expected. An analysis of the vote on the Naval Academy bill shows that of the 183 who voted for its enactment, 94 were Republicans and 89 Democrats, and of the 143 who voted against it 67 were Republicans and 76 Democrats. Aside from the personal reasons that may have swayed some of the members to vote one way or another, the fact remains that the majority of the Republicans of the House seem to favor continuance of the present personnel strength and this likewise would appear to be true in the case of 45 per cent of the Democrats. It is fair to assume that the National Defense sentiment in the House is as strong for the Army as for the Navy, and this being so there are welcome indications that the Democratic leaders face defeat for any reduction program.

BUT WHILE THERE IS a ray of light for the Services in the Congressional situation, it cannot be stressed too strongly that the fight is not yet won and that efforts must continue to prevent the cuts the leaders still have in mind. The latter are of the opinion that the opposition which flared up when it leaked out that the Army was to be cut in the House bill by 2,000 officers and 8,750 men will evaporate or at least lessen if given time, and to that end it was determined to delay the report of the Army Appropriation bill, and to pursue a like course with reference to the Naval Appropriation bill. But the opposition instead of disappearing is growing. The American Legion has been doing yeoman work in this connection, and one of its effective speakers is the Rev. Joseph Lonergan, former National Chaplain of the organization. Other advocates of proper defense likewise have been active. We suggest, as part of their labor, they concentrate upon the following who continue insistent upon reductions:

Speaker Garner.

Representative Byrns, Chairman of the Appropriations Committee.

Representative Collins, Chairman of the Army Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee.

Representative Ayres, Chairman of the Naval Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee.

Representative Wood, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee.

Representative French, senior Republican member of the Naval Subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee.

That the House Service committees are in accord in the matter of maintaining present strength is shown by the fact that only three of the eleven Democratic members of the Military Committee voted against the Naval Academy measure referred to above, while four supported it, and four did not vote. Of the nine Republican members, three favored it as against one who opposed it, the balance not voting. Of the twenty members of the Naval Committee, sixteen voted for the measure, the remaining four not voting. It is accepted that those who did not vote were more generally in favor of the bill than against it. It is believed, therefore, that the Service committees will by no means approve any measure reported out of the Appropriations Committee, which by limitation of funds, proposes to formulate new policies of national defense.

A SANER CONSIDERATION of the facts of living conditions in the Services which has been displayed by the Senate leads to the hope that the pay freezing proposal will be substantially modified or at least will not apply to those least able to bear it—officers of the lower grades of the Army, the Navy and Marine Corps, and the non-commissioned officers. We hold that any application of the principle is wrong; that the Services, which were not permitted to share to the proportionate extent of other Government branches in the salary increases since 1908 should be relieved from any curtailment at this time. There is another aspect of the matter which deserves attention—that is that one class should not be penalized while another escapes. If, however, the House remains adamant and insists that pay increases shall not be allowed, we urge that limitation be so fixed that the men in the lower commissioned grades and the non-commissioned and warrant officers will be allowed the advances to which they are entitled. Again, we emphasize that such action is of the highest importance to maintain morale. That can be accomplished only if men are granted sufficient pay to enable them adequately to support their families and themselves.

JAPAN'S TRIUMPH at Shanghai is merely another illustration of the value of preparedness. For a time, the ill-equipped Chinese, although well trained, were able to withstand the invader. Their troops demonstrated that as infantrymen they can fight with courage and skill, and they underwent bombing in a manner that arouses admiration. But attacked by an Army equally and even better trained and supplied with the latest weapons of combat and in control of the air, it was merely a question of time before the defenders would be forced to retire. Had the Chinese been provided with an adequate air force and with artillery, undoubtedly they would have proved a much harder nut to crack than the Japanese have found them. Japan will now be able to break her will at Shanghai, and in the negotiations there doubtless will endeavor to obtain international as well as Chinese recognition of her enlargement of the Japanese settlement. In addition, the Japanese will bring up the question of recognition of her expanded rights in Manchuria. The United States has announced flatly that it will not give its assent to any such program. While the greater part of the Navy is being concentrated in the Pacific in accordance with the plan of maneuvers long ago determined upon, the Japanese statesmen will not be slow to realize that our Fleet is available to uphold the American policies. We shall continue to hope that disturbance of peace in the Pacific will be avoided. At the same time, we call public attention to what has transpired in China, and suggest that our Congress take the lesson to heart and authorize those increases in personnel and material for the Army and the Navy which are essential to prevent war and to protect our interests should we be unhappily drawn into it.

Her Slip

They had been wedded a number of years and had reached the state of married life when both spoke their minds pretty freely.

"Do you remember years ago in your father's parlor," he commenced, "when I asked you to say one little word that would make me happy for life?"

She sighed blissfully.

"Yes, I remember," she purred.

"Well," he replied sharply, "you said the wrong one."

ASK THE JOURNAL

SEND your queries to the ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL QUESTION EDITOR and an answer will be given as soon as possible after receipt, either in this column or by mail. Questions relative to living conditions at Army posts or Navy shore stations will be answered in detail by letter.

L. B.—The Marine Corps issues a Campaign Bar for service with the Expeditionary Forces in China from Sept. 20, 1924, to a time in the future to be settled later. There is also an award known as the Yangtze Campaign Medal given for service with the Navy and Marine Corps on certain vessels, etc., from Sept. 3, 1926, to Oct. 20, 1927. The Marine Corps also has a Campaign Bar for service in Haiti during certain periods, the last period ending Nov. 25, 1924. Application for any of the above medals or bars should be made to Major General Commandant, Navy Department, Washington, D. C.

According to the Adjutant General's Office there are no regulations specifically in point as to the wearing of these medals by members of the Army, but that if a member of the Service is awarded the medal by the Marine Corps, he should make inquiry of the Adjutant General's Office as to his right to wear the medal.

W. W. B.—An enlisted man of the Army who enlists three months after the termination of his previous enlistment, will be entitled to the reenlistment bonus regardless as to the type of discharge he possesses if it is honorable, we are informed by the Adjutant General's Office.

SERVICE NEWS AND GOSSIP

German Views Distributed in Geneva—While the delegates to the League of Nations were assembling at Geneva, that city, according to word reaching here, was covered with propaganda from various organizations representing the many different viewpoints of the nations and groups represented.

One particularly graphic argument was presented in copies of the Illustre Zeitung, published at Leipzig, which publishes numerous charts and articles such as "Germany's Right to Claim General Disarmament and Security," by Count Bernstorff, "How Germany Disarmed," by Lt. Gen. Vin Cramon; "The Defensive Forces of the German Reich," by Dr. Groener.

One interesting graph sets forth the state of the armaments of the great powers for war on land as follows: France, war strength, 4,500,000; machine guns, 62,000; guns, 5,200; tanks, 3,500; aircraft, 2,800.

Russia—War strength, 6,500,000; machine guns, 16,000; guns, 3,000; tanks 350; aircraft, 1,700.

Italy—War strength, 3,500,000; machine guns, 16,000; guns, 3,000; tanks 150; aircraft, 1,015.

Poland—War strength, 3,200,000; machine guns, 33,600; guns, 5,436; tanks, 350; aircraft, 800.

Great Britain—War strength, 2,000,000; machine guns, 14,200; guns, 1,500; tanks, 580; aircraft, 2,400.

Japan—War strength, 1,800,000; machine guns, 21,000; guns, 1,930; tanks, 40; aircraft, 1,000.

United States—War strength, 1,420,000; machine guns, 35,000; guns, 4,010; tanks, 2,100; aircraft, 3,100.

Yugoslavia—War strength, 1,150,000; machine guns, 8,750; guns, 2,000; tanks, 50; aircraft, 450.

Belgium—War strength, 600,000; machine guns, 4,073; guns, 851; tanks 50; aircraft, 300.

Czechoslovakia—War strength, 1,300,000; machine guns, 21,000; guns, 2,100; tanks, 100; aircraft, 600.

Germany—War strength, 100,000; machine guns, 1,926; guns (light), 288; tanks, none; aircraft, none.

Other charts illustrated the "ring of steel" around Germany and the complete coverage of German territory by the bombing of her neighbors' aircraft.

Civil Service May Withdraw Aid in Selection of Academy Appointees—Thomas E. Campbell, president of the Civil Service Commission, said yesterday that if its appropriation for the fiscal year 1933 is reduced, as provided in the independent offices appropriation bill, recommended by the House Appropriations Committee, among other reductions of activities it will be compelled to cease holding examinations for members of Congress for entrance to the United States Military and Naval Academies.

An executive order issued by President Roosevelt in 1907 provides that "upon the request of any member of Congress the United States Civil Service Commission shall aid in testing the qualifications of applicants for designation for appointment in the United States Military or Naval Academies, so far as this may be done without adding to the expense of the commission."

Since that time the commission has been holding open competitive examinations upon the request of senators and representatives to aid them in selecting their nominees for the Military and Naval Academies.

The bill as introduced cuts the Civil Service Commission's appropriation $82,000 under the estimate of the bureau of the budget, which estimate is $115,000 less than the 1932 appropriation.

General Hull Appointed to Judgeship—The President has nominated Maj. Gen. John A. Hull, retired, formerly Judge Advocate General of the Army, as an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the Philippines Islands. The appointment, which is generally approved, will give to the judiciary of the Archipelago an official of high ideals, a lawyer of keen intelligence, and a man whose experience in legal affairs in the Army and especially in the Philippines peculiarly fit him to discharge the important duties to be vested in him. General Hull, who has been serving as legal adviser to the Governor General, speaks Spanish and has some familiarity with the dialects of the Islands, and in addition, has the friendship of the natives, including their politicians. It is expected his nomination will be promptly confirmed.

Akron Report Due Next Week—Representative James V. McClintic (Democrat), Oklahoma, plans to turn his report on the Akron investigation over to the full House Naval Affairs Committee sometime next week, he said yesterday.

He said he had not written it yet, and would not do so until he had conferred with Chairman Carl Vinson. He intimated his report might have some comment to make on the accident at Lakehurst two weeks ago, when the Akron damaged a fin. The report will clear the Navy of charges that faulty materials went into construction of the airship.

Navy Postgraduate School—The Bureau of Navigation desires to give post-graduate work to approximately 85 more officers the coming year than heretofore. This is more officers than the Postgraduate School at Annapolis can accommodate above the usual number. It involves additional cost in terms of tuition and of travel for the additional officers and their dependents.

However, by dividing the whole student body between the Annapolis Post-graduate School and the University of California, it is expected to save several thousand dollars on transportation and to find in this saving enough money to cover the additional tuition.

The Bureau of Navigation had at first studied the possibility of assembling the whole of the new class at the Postgraduate School in Annapolis. Funds available did not permit. Study was then made of the possibility of assembling all in California, but again funds did not permit. Hence the Bureau's decision to seek liberty of action to divide the numbers between Annapolis and California as indicated above.

Retirement of Philippine Scouts—To establish his right to grant retirement privileges to soldiers of the Philippine Scouts upon the completion of 30 years' honorable service with the colors on a basis similar to the one extended enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Secretary of War has taken advantage of the Judicial Code to refer a case direct to the Court of Claims for relief.

While the case specifically concerns the rights of Mr. Sgt. Santos Miguel, the adverse decision of the Comptroller General denying him the retired pay and allowances prescribed by the Secretary of War affects all future retirement among Philippine Scout soldiers.

Master Sergeant Miguel retired from the Philippine Scouts Oct. 31, 1931, after more than 30 years' honorable service. His pay voucher for November submitted to the Finance Officer at Manila and referred by him to the Comptroller General through the office of the Chief of Finance was disallowed on the ground that no authority existed for his retirement by the War Department. At the direction of Secretary Hurley, the Judge Advocate General has filed the case of Master Sergeant Miguel with the Court of Claims.

Colonel Lindbergh's Loss—The Services join with the rest of the Nation in reprobating the kidnapping of the 20-months-old baby of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, of the Army Reserve Corps. The colonel is the idol not only of the Air branches of the Services but of all other branches; and there is lively recollection amongst them of the great work done by Senator Morrow, the late grandfather of the baby, in the legislative development of our air arm. To express sympathy for the Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh in the terrible trial they are undergoing is merely to give utterance to what is in every one's heart. But the Nation must do more. It must take measures which will prevent the repetition of such an odious crime. To seek to wring money out of human misery, to get dollars out of a mother's tears, is to violate the most sacred principles of life. Civilization cannot and will not tolerate it. We trust the perpetrators of the outrage will be discovered and that their punishment will follow swiftly.

Army and Navy Rights in Philippines—Philippine independence under the Hawes-Cutting bill, because of the guarantee of a United States Military Base in the Pacific, was favored yesterday by Senator Hiram Bingham, a Republican, of Connecticut, chairman of the Territorial and Insular Affairs Committee of the Senate.

"I favor the bill particularly because it provides that we may continue our Army and Navy establishment in the Philippine Archipelago as long as we care to do so," Senator Bingham told the Journal.

"We have a dry dock there, we have forts, and have developed harbors for our ships. We should not abandon these, especially in view of our need for a Pacific Naval and Military base. From the standpoint of National Defense, I think it is a good bill."

The Hawes-Cutting bill provides that prior to complete withdrawal of United States sovereignty after 5 years, the Island must recognize "the right of the United States to maintain armed forces in the Philippines and, upon order of the President, to call into the service of such armed forces all military forces organized by the Philippine government."

After withdrawal the Philippine Constitution must provide for sale or lease to the United States of "the land necessary for coaling or naval stations at certain specified points, to be agreed upon with the President of the United States not later than 2 years after his proclamation recognizing the independence of the Philippine Islands."

First Application for Purple Heart Decoration—Under date of Feb. 23, the day following the announcement of the revival of the Purple Heart, Mr. George L. Linthicum, Greenway apartments, Charles Street and 34th Street, Baltimore, Md., formerly second lieutenant, Motor Transport Corps, American Expeditionary Forces, requested information through Senator Tydings as to how to obtain this decoration.

The War Department informed the former officer that, as he had received a Certificate of Merit during the World War, he was eligible for the award of this new decoration and that it would be furnished him when manufactured in the near future.

General Pershing Recovering—The Services will be glad to know that General Pershing is recovering swiftly from the cold which caused him to go to the Walter Reed Hospital. There was nothing serious in the ailment. The General and his friends merely determined that it was wiser for him to receive medical care than to remain alone in his Washington apartment. Because of the greatness of the service which the General rendered to the country as Commander-in-chief of the A. E. F., the entire country has been interested in his condition; but we believe that nothing has touched him more than the concern displayed by his friends in the Regular establishment. It is worth while to know that the state of the Army is as important today to the General as it was when he was a junior officer, and we are violating no secret in saying that his influence has been exercised in recent weeks in behalf of proper national defense.

Caterpillar Club Feels Depression, Gets Fewer Members in 1931—The end of the year 1931 saw a total of 426 names inscribed in the Caterpillar Club register, with an explanatory note to the effect that 441 emergency parachute jumps were made, meaning that 12 members of this mythical organization jumped twice and one member, none other than the best known flyer in the world today, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, jumped on four different occasions.

A total of 85 names were added to the roster of the Caterpillar Club during the calendar year 1931, as against 131 names added the preceding year, from which it will be noted that there was a decline in emergency parachute jumps last year to the extent of 46. So far as airplane accidents were concerned, 1931 was not such a bad year after all.

Film is found by dental research to dis-

color teeth and foster

serious tooth disorders.

Decay begins beneath this Film on Teeth

COMBAT IT!—Remove film, eat the right foods, see your dentist—the 3 great rules. Science finds teeth must be protected from "within" and from "without."

BEFORE decay or other troubles can triumph there must be two prime conditions. First: germs of infection must be present—active, vigorous—ready to attack. Second: natural resistance must be low and hence invite attack.

To build natural resistance against decay and gum disorders eat the right foods. Eat them to make teeth harder and to make gums firm.

Remove film

And in addition remove the germs associated with tooth troubles. To remove germs from teeth, remove film. For film is their breeding ground. It glues germs against the teeth so tightly ordinary brushing cannot remove them. The stains from food and smoking are absorbed by film. It fills every tiny crevice in enamel. Film is hard to reach and hard to remove.

USE PEPSODENT TWICE A DAY—SEE YOUR DENTIST TWICE A YEAR

So to meet this need Pepsodent was developed. Today Pepsodent has become the special film-removing tooth paste.

Now, a new discovery

Pepsodent's unique action is due to a revolutionary polishing and cleansing agent. One that is SAFE and gentle. One twice as soft as that commonly used in other tooth pastes. Because of its great safety, Pepsodent is recommended widely for the delicate teeth of children.

Yet with all its softness Pepsodent cleanses teeth and polishes enamel to a degree heretofore unknown.

And besides the proper diet and removing film each day, one thing remains: See your dentist regularly.

Further than this there is nothing left to do. It's science's own prescription.

OBITUARIES

Announcement of deaths should be addressed to Editorial Office, Army and Navy Journal, 1701 Connecticut Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C.

Maj. A. C. Arnold, JAGD, USA, died at Letterman General Hospital, San Francisco, Calif., Feb. 25, 1932.

Major Arnold was born in Jefferson County, Ky., Jan. 16, 1881. He graduated from the University of Florida in 1904 with an LL.B.; was appointed first lieutenant of Infantry, National Army, Nov. 27, 1917; vacated Oct. 9, 1920; appointed major, Judge Advocate General's Department, Regular Army, July 1, 1920; accepted Oct. 9, 1920. Major Arnold received the Distinguished Service Cross with the following citation: First Lieutenant, 326th Infantry, 82nd Division, near St. Juvin, France. "On the night of Oct. 10, Lieutenant Arnold was painfully wounded while reconnoitering enemy's positions, but continued with his mission after receiving first aid from an accompanying soldier. Early in the morning of Oct. 11, with the assistance of one soldier, he silenced a machine gun which was enfilading our line. He was again wounded while accomplishing this mission, but continued his efforts until another machine gun had been put out of action through his personal direction. He remained on duty with his men until he became so weak from loss of blood and exposure to gas that he collapsed and was carried from the field."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Irene Arnold, Ft. Lewis, Wash., where he was stationed at the time of his death.

Weddings and Engagements

REAR ADM. AND MRS. LLOYD H. Chandler announce Monday, May 2, as the date of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Marshall Chandler, to Lt. Leslie B. Downing, USA.

The ceremony will be at the home of Rear Adm. and Mrs. H. I. Cone, Tracy Place, Washington, D. C., with only the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom present.

A military atmosphere characterized the wedding of Miss Barbara Greene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Greene, of Waipahu, near Honolulu, T. H., to Lt. William C. Bentley, Jr., AC, USA, son of Mrs. William C. Bentley, Richmond, Va., which took place in the home of the bride's parents Feb. 1. The ceremony was performed by Dean William Ault. Mrs. Peyton Harrison was matron of honor. Lt. Rudolph Fink, USA, served as best man. Six ushers, brother officers of the bridegroom, preceded the bride and her attendants. The ushers were Lt. L. T. Pugh, Lt. A. J. Hanna, Lt. D. D. McCasky, Lt. George McCoy, Jr.; Lt. D. T. Crav and Lt. E. R. Todd.

After the ceremony 125 guests extended good wishes to the young couple, after which there was dancing. Refreshments were served.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Bentley sailed the same week on a transport for a two-month honeymoon in the Orient, and then will return to Wheeler Field to complete the officer's tour of duty there.

The home of the chief of Coast Artillery, USA, and Mrs. John W. Gulick, Washington, D. C., was the scene of a wedding of unusual interest in Army circles Feb. 27, when Miss Carolyn Wildrick, daughter of Lt. Col. George A. Wildrick, USA, and Mrs. Wildrick, became the bride of Lt. Church Matthews, USA, son of Dr. Edwin Matthews, of Maysville, Ky.

Colonel Wildrick, who is stationed in Chicago, and Mrs. Wildrick, who has been visiting in Washington for some time, were joined a fortnight ago by their daughter, and when she decided to be married in the Capital, General and Mrs. Gulick, close friends of her parents, turned over their home for the ceremony.

The arrangements for the wedding were charming in their simplicity. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. H. D. Sterrett. The company was limited to close friends of the couple, and a small reception followed by the guests at the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a becoming costume of blue, the gown of powder blue crepe and her dark blue straw hat was trimmed with ribbon to match her gown. She carried an arm bouquet of Spring blossoms. The bride was unattended.

After the reception Lieutenant Matthews and his bride left for a wedding trip. They will make their home at Ft. Bragg, N. C., where Lieutenant Matthews is stationed.

Mrs. Matthews attended St. Mary's at Peekskill, Pa. Lieutenant Matthews is a graduate of West Point, 1928.

The marriage of Miss Cora M. Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Thomas, of Asheville, N. C., and Lt. Johnson Hagood, Jr., USA, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Johnson Hagood, of Omaha, Neb., will take place March 9, at the Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C. The Rev. Charles T. Warner will officiate.

The bride-elect attended the Ward-Belmont School in Nashville, Tenn., and Vanderbilt University. Lieutenant Hagood is stationed at Ft. Myer.

With the Services in the Nation's Capital

OFFICERS of the Army in Washington are looking forward to the annual West Point dinner which will be held this year at the Willard Hotel, March 19 at 8 p. m. The committee in charge plans to make this a most attractive and interesting evening and are welcoming all suggestions for the dinner and entertainment.

The committee in charge of the dinner is composed of the following: Director, Col. Leon B. Kromer, '99; chairman committee on arrangements, Maj. Horace M. Hickam, '08; chairman committee on attendance, Lt. Col. John B. Richardson, '04, and chairman committee on entertainment, Lt. Col. Bernard Lentz, '05. The committee desires to get in touch with all graduates of the Academy who may be in Washington at the time of the dinner.

As the dinner and entertainment are being planned as far in advance as possible, it will be of great assistance if those planning to attend get in touch with the committee early. Cadets who were honorably discharged are eligible to attend. Those who wish to attend should communicate with Colonel Richardson at room 260, State War and Navy Building.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Patrick Jay Hurley were the guests in whose honor Maj. Gen. and Mrs. T. Q.

Ft. Snelling Society Circus

Ft. Snelling, Minn.—The Ft. Snelling Officers' Club sponsored an Indoor Society Circus on Feb. 20 for the benefit of the Army Relief Society. This performance, new in the annals of northwest history, aroused a great deal of interest in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and the response by the citizens of the Twin Cities was extremely gratifying to the sponsors. The success of this first circus warranted the announcement that it would be the start of a series of them, two more being planned for the next few months.

The program consisted of ten events. Opening the entertainment was a ten-minute precision drill by the 3rd Inf. Silent Drill Squad. Following this, an Enlisted Men's Troop Drill demonstrated precision on Government-owned mounts. The third event consisted of demonstrations in single, pair and triple-bar jumping. Entries were both civilian and military.

Ladies of the Twin Cities and of the garrison united in the most colorful and professional performance of the evening in the next event. Sixteen ladies rode in difficult and intricate formations, to music, going from one to the other without command in the Ladies' Musical Drill. Entries were as follows: Mrs. Francis D. Butler and Miss Eileen Bigelow, both of St. Paul; Mrs. Rollin P. Blair and Miss Marion Wilmeth, both of Minneapolis; Mrs. Harry J. Keeley, Mrs. James W. Darr, Mrs. Jesse T. Traywick, Mrs. Grovenor C. Charles, Mrs. Frank N. Leakey, Mrs. John F. R. Seitz, Mrs. Robert J. Watson, Mrs. B. R. Nyquist, Mrs. Orin D. Haugen, Miss Lola Lennon, Miss D. E. Nissen, and Miss M. O. Volo, all of Ft. Snelling.

Ft. Snelling's wonder horse, Whisky, ("the old maestro") always a big feature in any program at the fort, astounded the spectators with some new tricks added to his usual repertoire. He included jumping through a burning hoop with the hall in absolute darkness. An exceptional bit of horsemanship was displayed by Mrs. Orin D. Haugen, of Ft. Snelling, in putting Whisky through his paces.

The last event of the evening's entertainment, an Artillery Drill by Battery F. 18th Field Artillery, Capt. Willis S. Bryant, commanding, proved to be a fitting end to an evening already replete with thrills. The mad dashes around the narrow Riding Hall of the eight three-inch cannons brought expressions of fear and delight from all the audience. The circus was concluded by the playing of the National Anthem by the 3rd United States Infantry Band. Music for all events was furnished by the Regimental Band, Warrant Officer Olaf M. Nord, directing.

Ashburn entertained at dinner Monday.

Other guests included the Adj't. Gen. and Mrs. Charles H. Bridges, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. John Gulick, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert Callan.

Comdr. and Mrs. Walter W. Toles entertained a party of 20 at the dinner dance given by the New York State Society on Saturday evening at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Maj. Gen. James Parker, USA, and Mrs. Parker are at the Meridian Mansions Hotel for a week's stay.

Maj. Gen. George Leach and Mrs. Leach were the guests of honor at a tea given on Sunday afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock by Col. and Mrs. John Vanderpool Richards, who entertained at their residence in Forest Hills. Mrs. Richards had among her assistants Mrs. Robert H. C. Kelton, Mrs. Louis Kunzig, Mrs. Francis E. Pope and Mrs. Junius W. Johnson.

Miss Ruth Foos, a senior at Vassar College, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, scholastic honor society, as announced by President Henry Noble McCracken's honor list of Feb. 25.

Miss Foos is the daughter of Maj. and Mrs. John W. Foos, of 4444 Greenwich Parkway, Washington, D. C. A younger sister, Miss Esther Foos, is a sophomore at Vassar.

Farewell dinner was given by the officers of the Bureau of Engineering, Navy Department, at the Racquet Club, Washington, D. C., for Capt. O. L. Cox, USN, on Saturday evening, Feb. 27. About 40 officers attended. Captain Cox is being detached from duty as head of the Design Division of the Bureau of Engineering on March 1 and is ordered to duty as Inspector of Machinery, New York Shipbuilding Company, Camden, N. J. Captain Cox has been in charge of the Design Division of the Bureau of Engineering for the past four years. Among those attending the dinner were Rear Admiral Robinson, Engineer-in-Chief, USN; Capt. H. G. Bowen, Assistant Chief of Bureau of Engineering, who acted as toastmaster; Capt. R. C. Davis, General Inspector of Machinery; Capt. N. H. Wright, Engineering Member of the Board of Inspection and Survey; Capt. H. M. Cooley of the Material Division of Naval Operations; Capt. C. A. Bonvillian, head of the Repair Division of the Bureau of Engineering, and Comdr. C. A. Jones of the Design Division of the Bureau of Engineering, who is relieving Captain Cox of his present duty in charge of the Design Division.

Personals

MRS. PRINCE E. TRIPP and son, Donald Tripp, wife and son of the late 1st Lt. Prince E. Tripp, USA, who died at Coronal, C. Z., Feb. 18, 1932, upon their return to the United States early in March, will make their home at 246 Park Avenue, South Haven, Mich.

Rear Adm. Colby M. Chester, USN, ret., the oldest living graduate of the United States Naval Academy, celebrated his twenty-first birthday Feb. 29.

Admiral Chester has seen 88 years pass, but has so far celebrated only twenty-one birthdays. He was born Feb. 29, 1844, at New London, Conn.

The admiral missed a birthday in 1900 because it was not a leap year. After the Gregorian calendar was changed there was still a slight error. Years divisible by 100 but not by 400 are not leap years.

It was his exacting calculations in 1909 which first cast doubt on all of Dr. Cook's claims to having discovered the North Pole.

"Cock Robin," a mystery play by Elmer Rice and Philip Barry, is being presented by the U. S. Naval Academy Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society on Saturday, March 19, in Mahan Hall. There will be a matinee at 2:30 p. m. and an evening performance at 9 p. m.

The cast has been selected from Navy personnel on duty at the Academy and from local talent of Annapolis. The production is under the direction of Lt. Comdr. Tully Shelley, who has had considerable experience, both in acting and producing.

Tickets are on sale in Washington at the Army and Navy Club and the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Country Club.

Lt. and Mrs. Millard F. W. Oliver, of Ft. Crook, Nebr., were hosts to 30 guests at the Saturday night dinner dance given at the Omaha Athletic Club Feb. 27. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Webb, of Omaha; Miss Henrietta Rees, Maj. and Mrs. Eugene Milburn, Maj. and Mrs. Charles Hutter, Maj. and Mrs. R. E. Jones, Maj. and Mrs. E. H. Burt, Maj. and Mrs. K. F. Hanst, Capt. and Mrs. T. A. Capt. John E. Grose departs about March 1 for his new station. After spending a month's leave in Southern California, he sails April 4, on the U. S. Transport "Republic," from San Francisco, Calif., via the Panama Canal, for New York, where Captain Grose will be temporarily located until his assignment to the War Mothers and Widows Pilgrimage to France.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Porter, of McMinnville, Ore., were house guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Errol D. Porter, last week-end.

Friends of Mrs. Dwight W. Ryther will be glad to learn that she is convalescing from her recent accident and may receive her friends at home.

Mrs. Thomas J. Cross is rapidly recovering from her recent operation and is expected home from the hospital the latter part of next week.

Maj. and Mrs. Charles H. Corlett are spending 10 days in California and are due back to the garrison early in March.

Mrs. J. S. Lovless, of Seattle, Wash., is visiting her son and daughter-in-law and son, Lt. and Mrs. Jay B. Lovless.

Members of the Vancouver Barracks Polo Team left Saturday for Corvallis, to play Oregon State College Team. Officers of the garrison who made the trip were Capt. Fred S. Byerly, Capt. James D. Bender, Lt. Eugene McGinley, Lt. Ralph C. Bing, and Lt. Francis T. Dodd.

Posts and StationsFT. FRANCIS E. WARREN, WYO.

March 1, 1932

A LARGE reception was held at post headquarters, Feb. 17, for Col. and Mrs. Andrew J. Dougherty, by the officers and ladies of the 20th Infantry, the regiment of which Colonel Dougherty recently assumed command at Ft. Francis E. Warren.

In the receiving line with Colonel and Mrs. Dougherty were Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Frank S. Cocheu, Lt. Col. and Mrs. George C. Lawanson, Maj. and Mrs. Charles W. Dyer, Maj. and Mrs. Lucian D. Bogan. The guests were introduced by Capt. Maurice G. Stubbs, regimental adjutant. The Staff Bridge Club met at post headquarters on Feb. 16. Members present included Mrs. Frank S. Cocheu, Capt. and Mrs. Oliver L. Overmyer, Mrs. Carl C. Jones, Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Pughe, Mrs. Ray M. Hare, Maj. and Mrs. John D. Easton, Capt. and Mrs. John J. Honan, Mrs. John C. Dye, Capt. and Mrs. John S. Vincent, Mrs. Paul R. Covey, Capt. and Mrs. Walter E. Lauer, Lt. and Mrs. James N. Stuart, Capt. and Mrs. Reuel E. Hewitt, Maj. and Mrs. George A. Sanford, and Capt. and Mrs. Ellis M. Altfather.

Mrs. John D. Easton, wife of Major Easton, Inf., entertained a host of friends from Cheyenne and the fort at a delightful bridge tea at post headquarters, on Thursday afternoon, Feb. 18.

A charming bridge luncheon was tendered by Mrs. Paul R. Covey, wife of Lieutenant Covey, FA, at her quarters on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17, in honor of Mrs. Thomas E. Lewis and Miss Janett Baker, daughter of Comdr. A. A. Baker, USN.

SCHUYLKILL ARSENAL, PA.

March 1, 1932

ONE of the most successful events of the social season at The Quartermaster Corps School, Philadelphia, Pa., was the officers' dance held in Clayton Hall, Schuykill Arsenal, on the evening of Feb. 26.

Col. M. R. Hilgard, QMC, Commandant of the school, and Mrs. Hilgard were assisted in receiving by Rear Adm. L. A. Bostwick, Commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard, and Mrs. Bostwick; Col. and Mrs. Frederick G. Knabenshue, Col. and Mrs. Irvin L. Hunt, of Washington, D. C.; Col. and Mrs. Clyfford Game, Col. and Mrs. Frederick G. Turner, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Clark, and Lt. Col. and Mrs. John E. Munroe. The guests included officers of the Navy and Marine Corps, members of their families and friends. Refreshments were served in Butt Hall, where covers were laid for 230.

Preceding the dance, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Clark entertained at dinner at the Fairfax Hotel. Among their guests were the families of members of the staff and faculty of the school.

14th Cavalry Anniversary

Ft. Des Moines, Iowa.—The 14th Cavalry will celebrate its 31st anniversary on March 5, 1932, with appropriate ceremonies.

There will be a 14th Cavalry Regimental Dinner at the Officers' Club on the evening of March 5, 1932, at 7:15, in celebration of the thirty-first anniversary of the regiment. All officers of the 14th Cavalry, their wives and house guests are invited to be present.

At 9:30 p. m., March 5, 1932, the officers of the 14th Cavalry will give a dance at the Service Club. Music will be furnished by an orchestra from Des Moines. All officers and their families are cordially invited to attend.

Program of events follows:

9 a. m. Parade in front of barracks.
9:15 a. m. Presentation of recruits, who have joined the regiment since the last Organization Day, to the colors.

9:30 a. m. Address by the Commanding Officer.

10 a. m. Gymkana in Riding Hall.

6:30 p. m. Troop dinners for enlisted men and guests.

8 p. m. Enlisted men's dance in Gymnasium. All enlisted men of the post are invited. Music will be furnished by the 14th Cavalry orchestra.

In charge of events are: Capt. Herbert L. Earnest, Capt. Frank M. Harshberger, and 1st Lt. W. H. Nutter.

Orders have been received assigning Capt. E. A. Franklin, Capt. G. A. Graham and 2nd Lt. Theo Kalakuka to the 14th Cavalry. The Commanding Officer notes these assignments with a great deal of pleasure.

forced this kind of legislation.

"Today we are building 16 ships that will come into service in the next three or four years," he continued. "It requires four years to educate an officer before he can go to the Fleet. What will we do with those ships? Are we going to bring them into the Fleet without officers? Of course not. The only place we can obtain officers is from the Naval Academy, so that it is absolutely necessary for this House to pass this kind of bill, and in all probability it will be necessary for the next Congress to do it; but from then on either the Committee on Appropriations will be required to reduce the midshipmen to two or else the Naval Affairs Committee will be compelled to bring in additional legislation to force attrition in the Navy that we thought would be accomplished by the Britten bill."

Representative Britten next spoke in favor of the bill. Among other things he declared:

"Every one of these boys is a national asset. He is worth to the Nation five times what it has cost to educate him. Suppose we get dragged into that unholy affair in China, would you not be glad to have these 261 extra boys on your pay roll? Why, of course, you would. Every one of them has been intensively educated in aviation, in radio, in gunfire, in engineering, in navigation, and in every branch of the Naval Service. Why, my friends, in the event of an emergency arising next month or next year, every one of these boys is worth a thousand times what it has cost the country to educate him, and the country expects you and me to keep him on the pay roll, at least until such time as we can see whether he has the proper capacity and the proper ability and the proper character to handle men and ships and big questions."

Mr. Byrns, taking the floor, said: "Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from New York asked the gentleman from Illinois if he did not think the taxpayers had rather put 261 members on the pay roll than in the future pay tribute to some foreign power. I want to say to my friend that the time will never come when America will pay tribute to any foreign power. I believe in an Army and Navy, but you can abolish your Navy, you can abolish your Army tomorrow, and if any foreign power was to undertake to assume jurisdiction over this country there is enough manhood and courage in the men and women of America to maintain their independence."

Next in the array speaking against the bill, was Representative Hamilton Fish. He stated: "Mr. Chairman, I am one of those who has always in the past voted for adequate national defense, and I expect to continue to do so. I have listened to the debate today by the proponents of this legislation but have not heard from any one of them the direct need for such legislation. * * * There is a disarmament conference going on at Geneva at the present time. The American Government has made certain suggestions. Among others we have suggested that submarines be eliminated. If that goes through, of course, it would mean we would not require as many officers as we have now in the Navy. * * * In 1921 the Secretary of State, Mr. Hughes, proposed to reduce the number of battleships and battle cruisers over 10,000 tons to 18 on a 5-5-3 ratio with Great Britain and Japan. I am willing to go along and vote appropriations to maintain that ratio, but I do not understand why we can not reduce or halve the number of battleships we have at the present time and yet maintain identically the same kind of national defense if other countries do likewise. Instead of having 18 battleships, if we had 10 and England had 10 and Japan had 6, we would have the same proportional naval defense, and we would thereby be saving over $200,000,000 a year."

Launching a tirade against the bill and national defense in general, Representative Blanton attacked Representatives Vinson and Britten, declaring that they both "have become admirals in their thoughts and programs since they have been associating with admirals."

"When I first began to serve here with Fred Britten and Carl Vinson they were the strongest men on this floor for the people against the landlubbing officers in the Navy," the Texan said. "I never heard such strong speeches in my life as the gentleman from Georgia delivered on this floor against Naval officers who spent their time lolling around hotels in Washington and the other big cities of the United States. He then contended that they ought to be on ships and not living in the cities of the country. But I have found that after they have associated with these admirals a little while they soon became admirals themselves. There ought to be an admiral's flag on that desk by our friend, Fred Britten, and an admiral's flag on this desk by Carl Vinson."

When Mr. Blanton had finished his speech, Representative Horr took him to sharp account for his inconsistency in fighting against appropriations for national defense and for larger appropriations for prohibition enforcement, in view of his constant talk of economy, adding:

"Surely, we will put an admiral's flag on that desk, and an admiral's flag on that desk, but we are going to put a cannon right there—Bishop Cannon."

"Did the gentleman say Bishop Cannon?" Mr. Britten asked, adding, "He has been sitting on his lap for 15 years."

"I can follow," continued Mr. Horr, "the distinguished chairman of the Committee on Appropriations as a statesman, but when it comes to matters of service in the Army forces I believe I know as much as even the chairman of the Committee on Appropriations about the Army service."

The gentleman speaks of our raising a million men overnight. It has only been a short decade ago when that cry went out. What happened? You had to conscript us and take some of us yowling and squawking up to the front lines. Talk to me about a million men overnight! I happen to have been in command of men whom their former officers told me were sent over the top who could not fire a rifle. There they were—gun fodder for superior militarism. Talk about immediate needs!

Of course, we may not need those men immediately. We will not need any ships immediately. Why do you not junk our Navy Yard out at Bremerton, Wash.? There is no evidence of war. Why build all these boats?

We could get together a million men overnight with our great man power. I suppose we could create a battleship overnight and then go out and give battle to trained men on real armament. * * * There is a difference between immediate need and preparedness."

"May I also call attention to the fact that we do not need cantonments now; we do not need any merchant marine today for defense; but the gentleman would wait until the last moment and then go out and by contract, at 10 per cent plus, and God knows what else, erect cantonments and build ships. There is no excuse at all for it."

Representative Stafford next spoke against the bill, asking:

"Why should we now violate the fundamental postulate of this Congress not to increase expenditures beyond the amount called for by the Budget by providing a nice high salary for young midshipmen who have been favored at the Government's expense and who have received a fine engineering education?"

Taking the floor again, Representative Britten launched an attack against those "who say 'I am for an adequate navy, but who always vot against the best interests of the service.'

"Most of them in 1913," Mr. Britten continued, "when the question arose as to whether we would appropriate for one battleship or none, voted for none, but insisted that they were for an adequate navy. An adequate navy, my friends, should mean a navy second to none other. A second-class navy is a losing navy."

"Another time when the question arose in this House whether we would have one battleship or two battleships this distinguished group of officials of the Government who are for an efficient navy and an adequate navy voted for the one ship rather than two, the no ship rather than one."

"My friend the gentleman from Mississippi [Mr. Collins] would wreck the Navy tomorrow on the theory that we do not need a navy, and yet he would say he was for adequate national defense. The word 'adequate' means nothing to those who think like the professional pacifist Libby. Even he (Libby) will say he is for an adequate national defense. The gentlemen who have talked against this legislation are opposed to a real first-class navy. They are not necessarily opposed to this bill from the taxpayer's standpoint."

"Practically every small-navy man in this House is also an ardent prohibitionist. They seem to go hand in hand. His votes would wreck the Navy, but not one dollar shall be cut from the prohibition enforcement appropriations. Prohibition appears more sacred to them than even the national defense."

Oh, no, not a dollar shall be saved on the silly enforcement of a costly legislative failure. The Volstead law is a thing too sacred to touch. All other appropriations may be slashed, but not the one affecting the now dejected noble experiment. If the 261 graduates of the Naval Academy affected by this bill were to be enrolled in the Coast Guard for rum running, every dry in the House would extol its merits. They will vote millions for snopers and snipers but nothing for real fighting men."

Following is the way the House voted:

On the Ranges

Vancouver Barracks, Wash.—Officers and enlisted personnel of the 7th Infantry have extended their congratulations to the five enlisted men of Company L who recently received a bronze medal each for turning in the five highest scores for the Ninth Corps Area Rifle Qualification Trophy Match.

These men and their scores are respectively: Pvt. 1cl. Clarence Chambers, 329; Cpl. William Troy, 328; Pvt. 1cl. Earl A. Boyd, 324; Cpl. Albert L. Shroud, 322, and Pvt. 1cl. William H. Kettle, 322.

The men each receive a letter of commendation in addition to the medals from the National Rifle Association of America.

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Two more victories for the 29th Infantry small bore rifle team were recorded Saturday upon receipt of scores made by their opponents in matches fired during this week. In the match fired on Tuesday against the 23rd Infantry, the 29th Infantry scored 4,539, while the 23rd Infantry team's score was 4,538. In Friday's match with the 18th Infantry the local regiment scored 4,559, while the 18th Infantry team made 4,542. Cpl. Charles Wills, Company A, made highest individual score, 467.

Pvt. Mallie C. Bruce, Company A, 29th Infantry, holds the distinction of having made the highest individual score in the small bore rifle competitions which have become a feature of the 29th Infantry's activities. In one of the three matches fired this week Private Bruce rolled up a score of 470 points out of a possible 500, topping his nearest competitor, Corporal Wills, of Company A, by one point.

Annapolis, Md.—Navy marksmen defeated West Virginia University, Feb. 27, in a shoulder to shoulder match. The score was 1,412 to 1,358.

Western High School of Washington, D. C., turned back the plebe rifle team, 1,342 to 1,312.

USNA FOOTBALL SCHEDULE
Annapolis, Md.—Three new opponents have been carded on the eight-game Naval Academy football schedule for 1932, announced this week. Columbia University will play Navy Nov. 5, in the feature home attraction of the season, while Washington and Lee will be met on Oct. 8 and Ohio University the following Saturday. The Maryland game, a State classic, has been transferred from Washington to Baltimore.

With the short schedule coming to a close shortly after the middle of November, many believe that a place is being reserved for a game with the Military Academy.

The complete schedule:

Oct. 1—William and Mary College.
Oct. 8—Washington and Lee.
Oct. 15—Ohio University.
Oct. 22—Princeton, at Princeton.
Oct. 29—Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia.

Nov. 5—Columbia.
Nov. 12—Maryland, at Baltimore.
Nov. 19—Notre Dame at Cleveland.

BENNING TENNIS RATINGS

Ft. Benning, Ga.—Official ratings of the 10 foremost tennis players of Ft. Benning were announced on Saturday by the Post Ranking Committee. The ratings and positions are as follows:

1. Capt. James H. Drake.
2. Capt. Randolph Gordon.
3. Lt. Leon R. Brownfield.
4. Capt. Richard C. Bassett.
5. Lt. Thomas L. Sherburne.
6. Capt. Walter C. Phillips.
7. Lt. George E. Lynch.
8. Lt. James E. Poore.
9. Lt. Godwin Ordway, Jr.
10. Lt. James Grier.

PLEBE BOXERS TIE

Annapolis, Md.—The plebe boxing team came out all even against the Augusta Military Academy, Feb. 27. The score was 3 1/2 to 3 1/2.

FT. BENNING SPORTS

Ft. Benning—Fifty-three candidates answered the first call for baseball practice at Gowdy Field last Monday afternoon. Maj. William F. Lee has been appointed head coach of the Infantry School Doughboys. He will be assisted by Lt. Paul Kellam.

The Doughboys will open the 1932 baseball season at Gowdy Field, March 21, against the Auburn Tigers. The Doughboys face a tough schedule this season. Games have been booked with the following teams: Oglethorpe University, Mercer University, Michigan State, Georgia Tech, Birmingham Southern College, Howard College, Columbus Foxes, Atlanta Crackers and Macon Peaches.

Walker Cyclone Smith, Army lightweight champion, advanced further up the fistic ladder when he defeated Eric Lawson, of Portsmouth, Va., at Savannah, Ga., last Thursday night.

NAVY FENCERS SCORE

Annapolis, Md.—Navy defeated Princeton, Feb. 27, in their fencing match. The score was 9 to 8.

QM LOSES TO NAVY

The Students' basketball team of the Quartermaster Corps School, Philadelphia, Pa., was defeated by the Naval Hospital team at the League Island Navy Yard by a score of 25-21 on Friday evening, Feb. 26.

GYM TEAM WINS

Annapolis, Md.—Navy defeated Temple in gymnastics, Feb. 27, 45 to 9.

USMA BOXERS WIN

West Point, N. Y.—The Army boxing team won from Penn State, Feb. 27, 5-2. McAndrews and Lewis, Penn State, knocked out Cadets Engler and Tiffany in the 135-pound and 145-pound events, but Army won the last four bouts. Cadets Cleveland, Clark, Olson, Kendall, and Remus won by decision.

COLUMBIA SWIMMERS WIN

West Point, N. Y.—Columbia won a closely contested meet from Army Feb. 27, the Blue and White swimmers scoring by 37-34 by virtue of their victory in the final event, the 400-yard relay.

Cadet Maury, Army's free style star, took both the 220-yard and 440-yard events. Hartshorn was also a double winner for the Cadets, capturing the 50-yard and 100-yard free-style events in easy manner.

PLEBE SWIMMERS SCORE

Annapolis, Md.—The Navy plebes scored a close victory over Mercersburg Academy, Feb. 27, winning their swimming match 32 to 30. The plebe water polo team also was victorious, defeating Baltimore Polytechnical Institute, 58 to 23.

Heads Research Laboratory

COMDR. EDMUND D. ALMY, USN, was assigned duty as Director of the Naval Research Laboratory in orders issued by the Navy Department this week, relieving Capt. Edgar G. Oberlin, USN. Captain Oberlin will continue as technical aide to the Secretary of the Navy, and Commander Almy will remain as officer in charge of the Radio Material School, Bellevue, D. C.

Under a general order placed in effect last week, the Naval Research Laboratory will operate under the Bureau of Engineering instead of as an independent office.

In the Saddle

West Point, N. Y.—Led by Cadet Grunert, Army's polo team won another victory, Feb. 27, downing Harvard University, 14 to 8. The Plebes won from the First City Troop of Philadelphia, 7 to 6.

Ft. Francis E. Warren, Wyo.—The 76th Field Artillery triumphed over the 1st Infantry polo team at the post riding hall recently by a 21 to 8 score.

The Infantry trio received a six-goal handicap but the play of Lt. Thomas E. Lewis, No. 1 for the Artillery team, more than offset this when 10 goals were marked up for him during the game.

Saturday afternoon, Feb. 14, the 76th Field Artillery indoor polo team defeated the 20th Infantry trio in as keenly contested and exciting a game as the post has witnessed this year. Score, 8 1/2 to 7.

FT. DES MOINES SPORTS

Ft. Des Moines, Ia.—The second of a series of elimination boxing matches was held at the Post Riding Hall to determine the championship of the post. The winners in the different bouts were as follows:

Nasser, Hq. Tr. 14th Cav., middleweight. Pitts, E. Btry, 17th FA, lightweight. Watson, E Btry, 18th FA, welterweight. Pickett, E Btry, 18th FA, middleweight. Shelton, F Btry, 17th FA, middleweight. Constant, E Btry, 18th FA, welterweight. Brewer, M. G. Tr., 14th Cav., welterweight. Masteron, Hq. Btry, 18th FA, welterweight. Boslem, Hq. Btry, 18th FA, featherweight.

There were also two exhibition wrestling matches. The winners are as follows: Pismark, Tr. E, 14th Cav., lightweight. Brumley, Btry F, 17th FA, heavyweight.

There has been opened a .22-calibre gallery in the basement of the Officers' Club. About 40 of the officers and ladies of the post turned out for different small bore competition at the club. Most of these matches were matches requiring luck rather than skill with the rifle. They were matches which would interest both the ladies and the officers. It is hoped that they have a great many more matches of this kind during the year.

NAVY WRESTLERS WIN

Annapolis, Md.—Navy wrestlers made a clean sweep against Brown University, Feb. 27, 34 to 0, scoring five falls and three decisions. Four substitutes were used by the Naval Academy. Navy winners were Midshipmen Martin, White, Goodman (captain), Wagstaff, Grady, Coleman, Lehman and Kane. The Plebes tied the V. M. I. frosh 16 to 16.

Carabao's Make Merry

IN the true spirit of the hardy survivors of the Philippine Insurrection the 32nd Annual Wallow of the Military Order of the Carabao was held in Washington last Saturday. Several hundred members of the Carabao and their guests representing every branch of the federal services attended.

Tropical greenery, bamboo and palms blending with the Stars and Stripes constituted the decorative scheme which inspired reveries of the days when the military and naval forces of the United States battled in territory distant and strange, thousands of miles from home. With its hardship and discomforts the unpleasant part of that service was forgotten and only the memories revived of that which was beautiful and that which the present day Carabao found amusing. The program abounded with satiric travesties upon their adventures of the past, and gentle irony at the present and the probable absurdities of the future.

Blending with the present martial note of the Far East was the announcement that three members of the Carabao who 32 years ago faced their initial baptism of fire in the Philippines are now in command of the United States military and naval activities in the Shanghai sector. They are Adm. Montgomery M. Taylor, USN; Col. Richard Hooker, USMC, and Col. Lorenzo Gasser, Inf., USA.

The principal addresses made were by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, United States Senator George Moses, of New Hampshire, Representative Carroll L. Beede of Maine, and General Douglas MacArthur, Chief of Staff of the Army. There being no reporters present, no record of their remarks are available.

Following the usual custom of the Carabao Order, the newly elected officers were installed by Col. Joseph M. Heller, the Grand Lead and Wheel Carabao, who decorated General MacArthur with the insignia of his office as Grand Paramount Carabao. In accepting, General MacArthur briefly dwelled on the stirring events of the past participated in by Carabao and the present-day possibilities for upsetting the tranquility of nations.

The officers installed were:

Grand Patriarch of the Herd (1st Vice Commander) Col. Reynolds J. Burt, USA.

Grand Bell Carabao (2nd Vice Commander) Rear Adm. Frank B. Upham, USA.

Grand Councillor of the Herd (3rd Vice Commander) Col. Harold C. Reisinger, USMC.

Grand Jefe de Los Banos (4th Vice Commander) Maj. Gen. Kenzie W. Walker, USA, ret.

Grand Jefe de Las Bebidas (5th Vice Commander) Col. Henry H. Sheen, USA.

Grand Jefe de Los Cargadores (6th Vice Commander) Col. A. Owen Seaman, USA.

Main Guard, Col. John P. Wade, USA. Winder of the Horn, Col. Harry N. Coates, USA.

Carretonera, Brig. Gen. Hugh Matthews, USMC.

Gamboling Carabao, Capt. Edward R. Wilson, USN.

Veterinario, Maj. Gen. Robert U. Patterson, Surgeon General, USA.

Directores de Fiesta, Col. Lesrtus J. Owen, USA, and Maj. Richard D. LaGarde, USA.

Los Consejeros en Bosque (Councilors-in-the-field), Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, USA, New York City; Col. Roy Pearse, USA, Res., Minneapolis, Minn.; John T. McCutcheon, War Correspondent, Chicago, Ill.; Martin Egan, War Correspondent, New York City; Col. John R. R. Hannay, USA, San Francisco, Calif.; Col. Frederick Palmer, USA, Res., New York City; Edward W. Harden, War Correspondent, New York City; George Ade, War Correspondent, Brook, Ind.; Maj. Gen. Matt A. Tinley, NG Iowa, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, late USA, Middleburg, Va.; Capt. H. E. Stafford, USV, Manila, P. I., and Maj. Burton J. Mitchell, late USA, Niagara, Falls, N. Y.

The solemnities over, the Commandant of the Marine Corps, Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, a Past Grand Paramount Carabao, decided it was time to inculcate the youngsters present with the true spirit of "wallow time" by shedding his dignity and singing: "Good Old Wallow Time." In appreciation of the vocal effort of "Uncle Ben," the assembly thundered out "The Halls of Montezuma" in honor to the gallant marine.

Col. John P. Wade was installed as "Bombinero." Solemn warning was given the new "Bombinero" that his honorable office originating at the first meeting of the Order had fallen into disuse before the wave of "noble experimentation" that now pervades all and sundry who gather in any form of gaiety or celebration. To the laity, the explanation is due that the duties of the "Bombinero" are to lead the herd to recreation and refreshment at inspired intervals, and that such interludes take precedence over all other business. "Bombinero" Wade gave evidence of the presence of an impromptu speech but this was quelled by the male chorus singing: "Chase Him from the Harem." The Carabao hymn followed. The words of this song were composed by Carabao Archie Butt, and in his memory the entire wallow joined in.

"Helen in Hooeyland," a gentle satire on the accomplishments of statecraft, was presented.

The Marine Corps, in the absence now of General Butler, was found to be on a diet. The Army, much engrossed in Reserve training; the Navy in the problem of ship rotation; and the Coast Guard doing all the cruising and having difficulty in keeping hard liquor within the 12-mile limit. As a whole, the services were shivering in their boots or timbers for fear of a cut in pay in their already skimpy salaries through an appropriation rider. Again the services of the father of General MacArthur in the Philippines in the days of the Insurrection were touched upon when "Helen of Hooeyland" warned Douglas MacArthur to keep away from the Philippines for fear that some question might again arise as to whether he was the boss, or Emilio Aguinaldo. The skit was handled entirely by members of the Paymaster's Department of the Marine Corps, led by Miss Ingrid Jonassen in the role of "Helen."

Naturally, there could not be a Carabao wallow without some reference to Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, erstwhile talking, battling Marine. What seemed to be the General appeared before the audience, his uniform covered with decorations, and sang of the achievements for which he received the medals.

The Carabao dinner was staged by the following Committee: Maj. Gen. Robert U. Patterson, USA, chairman; Rear Adm. Walter R. Sexton, USA, vice chairman; Maj. Gen. Ben H. Fuller, USMC; Maj. Gen. Irving J. Carr, USA; Rear Adm. Frank B. Upham, USA; Rear Adm. Ridley McLean, USA; Brig. Gen. Hugh Matthews, USMC; Brig. Gen. Nathan F. McClure, USA; Col. John P. Wade, USA; Capt. Frank D. Berrien, USN; Col. Reynolds J. Burt, USA; Col. Harold C. Reisinger, USMC; Col. Henry H. Sheen, USA; Capt. Haynes Ellis, USA; Capt. Frederick G. Pyne, USA; Col. A. Owen Seaman, USA; Col. Grant T. Trent, USA; Col. William H. Clopton, USA; Capt. Edward R. Wilson, USA; Col. Harry N. Coates, USA; Col. Learust J. Owen, USA; Capt. Ray Spear, USA; Col. Joseph M. Heller, MRC, USA; Comdr. Frank M. Furlong, USN; Lt. Col. Henry T. Bull, USA; Lt. Col. Resolve P. Palmer, USA; Maj. Richard D. LaGarde, USA; Maj. A. H. Dondero, USA, Ret.

Ft. Benning Notes

Ft. Benning, Ga.—As a measure to bring Infantry Officers into closer contact with the Field Artillery arm and to enable them to acquire a more detailed knowledge of the tactics of Field Artillery, Col. Duncan K. Major, jr., commander of the 29th Infantry, is making selections of officers of his regiment to be assigned for a period of three months with the 83rd Field Artillery.

O

The academic department of the Infantry School has been operating at full capacity during the past week with three classes of officers and another of enlisted specialists under instruction. The addition of 130 National Guard and Reserve Officers to the student personnel has resulted in an innovation in instructional methods under which selected student officers of the regular classes will act as instructors in some of the subjects assigned to the Reserve and National Guard students.

During the periods assigned to studies of topography the following named officers, students of the advanced class, will assist the regular instructors in the instruction of the National Guard and Reserve officers: Maj. Albert H. Peyton, Maj. Ben Hur Chastain, Capt. George S. Wear, Capt. Walter L. Sherfey, Capt. Maxwell G. Oliver, Capt. Alexander H. Cummings, Capt. Morris De Pass, and Capt. Willis D. Cronkhite.

Tactics was the predominant subject in the schedule arranged for the advanced class, with studies of chemical agents, field fortifications and supply included.

Studies of weapons, animal and motor transportation, tactics, staff methods and equitation engaged the company officers class during the week.

In addition to the regular classes conducted by the academic department, a horseshoeing course, one of the several courses conducted as troop schools, will be carried on concurrently with the company officers class with officers of the garrison in attendance. The students of this course will include all Field Artillery officers below the grade of major. The course, which is largely practical, will begin on March 2 and will continue until March 24. As a part of the practical work the student officers will be required to actually make horseshoes and fit them to the animals' feet.

Rooms and board? You will find your needs attended to by reading the Classified column of the Army and Navy Journal.

CMTC Enrollment

A RECORD-BREAKING rush for enrollment marked the opening of the lists for this Summer's Citizens' Military Training Camps Tuesday at Governors Island.

Three thousand applications were filed by qualified volunteers and a much larger number of inquiries were handled by the headquarters clerks during the day. Though the Metropolitan Area led all other sections, all parts of New York State, New Jersey and Delaware were represented in the applications.

Merchant Marine School

ESTABLISHMENT of a National Nautical School to furnish the American Merchant Marine with suitable officer personnel is called for in a resolution prepared by the Council of National Defense and approved by the Board of Directors of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

"There is a growing realization that our merchant marine needs officers educated for their future work," the resolution declares. "Due to the fact that its operation is largely under Federal control and supervision, it is to the interest of the whole country that these officers be drawn from all states. The establishment of a National Nautical School will provide a sufficient number of officers for our future merchant marine who have fundamental educations designed to fit them for all their future duties. It will prepare its graduates to become Naval Reserve officers and thus increase the strength and efficiency of our national defense."

"These trained seagoing officers, by making the merchant marine a more effective arm of our national overseas commerce, would increase our national prosperity."

Finally, such a National Nautical School would recreate and foster a nationwide interest in ocean shipping. Our shipping companies, with all the attendant industries such as shipbuilding, machinery building, steel manufacture, etc., would prosper and grow. Employment would be provided for thousands of American workers and the American manufacturer would have, in addition to the Government-trained consular agents, trained merchant officers taking a real interest in the transportation of his products and promoting good will for them at their destination.

Public Works Administration

assumption," Secretary Hyde retorted.

Inclusion of Army and Navy construction agencies in the proposed Administration of Public Works, which would consolidate all public construction projects under one head, was vigorously opposed by two witnesses appearing before the House Committee on Expenditures in Executive Departments at hearings Tuesday.

Rear Adm. A. L. Parsons, chief of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and Representative Fred A. Britten, (Republican), Illinois, ranking minority member of the House Naval Affairs Committee, asked that the Army Engineers Corps and the Bureau of Yards and Docks, be left out of any plan that may be adopted.

Earlier, Representative John J. Cochran, (Democrat), Missouri, chairman of the committee, upbraided Secretary of Agriculture Hyde for failing to respond to a letter written Jan. 4, asking his views on two public works consolidation bills now before the committee.

Representative Schaefer, (Republican), Wisconsin, moved at once that someone get in touch with Secretary Hyde by telephone and advise him to attend the hearings. The motion failed, but a substitute motion by Chairman Cochran, to notify Secretary Hyde to attend hearings March 3, was passed by the committee.

Rear Adm. Parsons told the committee that transfer of the Bureau of Yards and Docks to the proposed Administration of Public Works could be justified only if work under the arrangement could be done more economically and with greater efficiency. He said it was his opinion the transfer would be less efficient and economical.

Stressing the need for coordinating the work of the shore administration with the work of the fleet, he said any lack of coordination in time of war might result in defeat of the fleet.

Regardless of arrangements made under the consolidated bureau plan, he said the highly trained technical establishment now maintained by the Bureau of Yards and Docks must be continued in the interest of coordination. As it is vital that the Navy retain its specialists at shore construction jobs, he said the new bureau would result in duplication of personnel.

As the Navy would of necessity have to be in charge of construction in time of war, he said it was best it remain in charge in time of peace.

Representative Britten testified that the present system of investigation and report employed in rivers and harbors work by the Army Corps of Engineers is of untold benefit to business and commerce—that to touch it by the proposed legislation would be to interfere with this service.

Regardless of what benefits might result from the consolidation of other government construction enterprises, he said he would oppose the two bills if either the Army Corps of Engineers or the Bureau of Yards and Docks were amalgamated into the proposed administration.

He said he had not studied the other consolidations proposed under the bill.

Representative Britten read a letter he had received from John F. Cushing, president of the Great Lakes Bridge and Drydock Co., protesting against inclusion of the Army Corps of Engineers in the project.

He praised the quality of work performed by engineers of the Bureau of Yards and Docks, and pointed out that men who have headed the bureau and retired are now known as authorities in many lines of engineering.

"It would be bad business to destroy this organization," he said, adding that he thought it a good idea to furnish this training for Naval engineers in preparation for war emergencies.

A letter from the American Institute of Architects, signed by Secretary Frank C. Baldwin, indorsing the general provisions of the bill, but asking that outside architects be employed, was read before the committee.

Secretary of the Navy Adams "strongly recommended" against the enactment of either of the two public works bills now under consideration in their present form, "or in any form which includes the transfer of any public works activity from the control of the Navy Department, as being inimical to the naval service."

In letters to the chairman of the House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments, giving the views of the Navy Department as to H. R. 6665 and H. R. 6670, Secretary Adams states that his recommendation "is based principally upon military considerations," but that the Navy Department "is of the opinion that a thorough study of the subject would lead to the conclusion that no economy would be involved so far as Navy public works are concerned."

Under Representative Cochran's bill, H. R. 6670, Secretary Adams declares that although military and naval fortifications, battleships and like facilities are excluded, the public works administrator would take over exclusive jurisdiction of the design and construction, and maintenance, operation and repair of barracks, quarters, warehouses, hangars and other similar structures of the Navy.

As to H. R. 6665, introduced by Representative Williamson, it is stated that "while this bill excepts from its provisions public construction 'not of a military or national defense character,' it does not define what public construction will be included in that phrase, nor does it designate who shall make the determine as to whether an item of construction is 'not of a military or national defense character.'

"The construction, maintenance, repair and operations of naval structures ashore are so intimately related to the military control and operation of the entire shore establishment as an adjunct to the successful control and operation of the fleet in time of war," Secretary Adams states, "that any attempt to eliminate such work from the military control jeopardizes the Navy's successful operation as a whole."

Financial Digest

After the almost perpendicular decline which culminated around the middle of December, the Dow, Jones' bond averages advanced from a low of between 73 and 74 to fractionally above 81 by mid-January, says a morning stock letter of E. A. Pierce and Co. After that there was an irregular and relatively small decline into February, which was succeeded by a slow advance carrying the averages to approximately the 80 mark. It is true that an advance in the bond market does not carry the profit indications which a general advance in commodities would indicate to the business world, but if the bond averages should be able to penetrate the 81-82 level the development would probably be constructively interpreted in its relation to the stock market and as lending support to the theory that the bond market had finally begun its upward climb, which more often than not precedes a reversal of down trend in the stock market.

From a day-to-day standpoint, there was no essential change in the stock market, March 1. The rather active selling in Bendix and Johns Manville was due to dividend adjustments, more generally anticipated in the case of Johns Manville than in the case of Bendix. Generally speaking, there are no more signs now than there were a week ago of an immediate dissolution of the trading deadlock which grips the main body of stocks.

Inspect Nursing Activities
PURSUANT to authority, War Department, AGO, Maj. Julia C. Stimson, superintendent, Army Nurse Corps, now on duty in the office of the Surgeon General, will proceed on or about Mar. 7, 1932, to the following stations for the purpose of inspecting the nursing service and nurses' quarters in the various Army hospitals:

Ft. Hayes, Columbus, O., Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind., Ft. Sheridan, Ill., Ft. Snelling, Minn., Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., Ft. Care of Merchant Seamen

IN 157 ports of the United States and its possessions hospital care, out-patient treatment, and other medical services were furnished by the United States Public Health Service to American merchant seamen and other legal beneficiaries during the fiscal year 1931. Although 90 per cent of the hospital treatment is furnished in the marine hospitals, the Public Health Service maintains contracts with 196 public and private hospitals in the smaller and remote ports. Merchant seamen continued to be the most important class of beneficiaries, receiving 3.3 per cent more hospital treatment and 14 per cent more out-patient relief than in the preceding year. In addition to the treatment provided at the marine hospitals and other regular relief stations for the Coast Guard, which now has a personnel of more than 13,000 men, 22 medical and dental officers were detailed for duty on vessels and elsewhere and 108 part-time local physicians served isolated Coast Guard units. The usual assistance was given to the Civil Service Commission, the Steamboat Inspection Service, Employees' Compensation Commission, Veterans' Administration and other government establishments.

Satisfactory progress has been made with the building program. Construction of the new marine hospitals at Galveston, San Francisco and New Orleans has nearly been completed and work has commenced on the Seattle institution. The contract has been let for the addition at Key West. Architects are engaged in the preparation of plans for the new marine hospital buildings at Stapleton, N. Y., Baltimore, Norfolk, Louisville, Chicago, Evansville, Detroit, Memphis and Mobile. The building program not yet provided for includes additional or improved hospital facilities for the National Leprosy Home and the marine hospitals in Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Portland, Me., and Ft. Stanton, N. M.

The Situation at Shanghai

ONE stage in the hostilities between China and Japan came to a definite end in the period March 2-3, when the Chinese forces confronting the Japanese withdrew, falling back to the vicinity of Quinsan, about 40 miles to the west of China's largest city. The withdrawal was an orderly one, although harassed by Japanese aviation and pursued by their light troops. Subsequent to this retreat the Japanese attacked the forts at Woosung by landing parties, and from the land side and succeeded in capturing them.

Several causes may be given for the Chinese withdrawal. Probably the most important was the arrival of large reinforcements for the Japanese which insured their ability to deal a large scale military blow. Subsidiary and consequent to this was the landing of a Japanese division at Liuho, some 20 miles to the northwest of Shanghai which threatened the Chinese left flank and rear. Chinese morale had decreased noticeably as the result of continuous hostile pressure and of the failure of the Chinese Government to send reinforcements. It is believed that the Chinese ammunition supply was becoming low.

The Chinese resistance at Shanghai for a matter of five weeks constitutes the best fight that Chinese troops have ever put up against foreign forces in modern history. At the same time, and notwithstanding the Japanese possession of superior equipment and of undisputed control of the air, it should be noted that the Chinese defense against a numerically inferior attack did not measure up to the standards of modern war.

In its larger aspects the fighting at Shanghai may be regarded as a military defeat and a political victory for the Chinese. Prior to these hostilities, China regarded herself as prostrate before a military invasion. At the present time her confidence in her powers of armed resistance has increased measurably. In consequence the Chinese now see themselves in possession of military as well as economic weapons to resist foreign pressure whereas heretofore they had felt that their strength lay in the economic sphere of boycott alone.

Patents Granted

ANNOUNCEMENT has been made by the U. S. Patent Office of the granting of the following patents of interest to Service personnel:

Patent No. 1,845,242: Subject, Bolt Operating Mechanism for Machine Guns; Inventor: Richard C. Coupland, U. S. Army, Norfolk, Va.

"In a gun, an axially movable breech bolt and means for retracting the bolt including a handle having an initial lever action and a subsequent axial movement."

Patent No. 1,845,217: Subject, Gun; Inventor: Gladeon M. Barnes, U. S. Army, Hastings, Mich.

"In a reciprocating gun, a cylinder movable with the gun, a stationary piston in the cylinder defining a main compression chamber, an auxiliary compression chamber, and means operable through differential pressures for controlling the flow of gases between the auxiliary and the main compression chamber."

"A cradle, a recoil gun mounted thereon, means for checking the gun in recoil and restoring it to battery, a gun-holding member carried by the cradle, a movable gun engaging pawl on said member, means for disengaging the pawl from the gun during recoil movement of the gun, means carried by the gun-holding member for holding the pawl disengaged, and means for inoperating the holding means."

Patent No. 1,846,597: Subject: Radio Circuit and Method of Operating Same; Inventor: Frederick W. Hochstetter.

"In an apparatus of the type described, the combination comprising a plurality of multi-electrode audions each including a control electrode, input and output circuits for each of said audions electrically associated to form an amplifier, means within the audion for dielectrically isolating the control electrodes of each audion to eliminate grid current flow, and means externally of the audions in the input circuits for dielectrically isolating the control electrodes."

Pay Increase Ban

of the Senate in adopting the amendment reconsidered.

The Vice President. Without objection, the vote by which the amendment was agreed to will be reconsidered.

Mr. Trammell. Mr. President, this is the salary restriction provision which the Senate proposes to strike from the House text. I am not in favor of any curtailment of salaries in the lower and medium ranges; but it having appeared in more or less instances that there has been a reckless disregard of economy, although advocated by many Members of the Congress, I have thought that probably a provision of the character recommended by the House and inserted by it in the bill would accomplish some good in the administration of this and other appropriation acts. I do not, however, approve of it applying to the smaller salaries.

We know that some three or four years ago we passed the reclassification act, by which those in the higher brackets had their salaries very substantially increased while those in the lower brackets received practically no increase in compensation. That was not the intention of Congress at all. It resulted in a complete miscarriage of the purpose and intention of the Congress when we enacted the reclassification act. I think that those receiving the lower salaries—$1,200, $1,500, $1,800, and $2,000—have already been once mistreated and that they should not now be restricted, so that they can not possibly get any promotion during the period covered by the appropriation bill. I do not favor that feature as embraced in the House text, which the Senate committee now proposes to strike out.

I want to propose an amendment, however, in order that it may be inserted in the Record. I propose to amend the House text for the purpose of perfecting the House text. On page 92, line 1, after the word "compensation," I move to insert the words "where the salary is $3,000 or more per annum"; in line 4, page 92, after the word "compensation," to insert the words "where the salary is $3,000 or more per annum"; and in line 9, page 92, after the word "compensation," to insert the words "where the salary is $3,000 or more per annum."

That would make the provision against any increases apply only to salaries of $3,000 or more per annum. In other words, under that provision Government employees would receive their automatic advances or promotions as they are entitled to them under the reclassification act, but those with salaries above that amount would not receive any increase during the period of the applicability of this appropriation. I move the adoption of the amendment.

Mr. McNary (member of the Senate Appropriations Committee in charge of the bill). I have no objection to perfecting the House text.

The Vice President. The question is on the amendment offered by the Senator from Florida.

The amendment was agreed to.

Mr. Smith. Mr. President, the amendment proposed by the Senator from Florida was to amend an amendment on the part of the Senate which is to strike out.

Mr. McNary. The Senator from Florida offered his amendment to the House text. He had the right to do that. Then the question arises whether we will accept the Senate committee attitude and strike it all out, which is the question now pending.

The Vice President. The question is on agreeing to the committee amendment to strike out the House text as amended.

The amendment as amended was agreed to.

Navy Postgraduate School

THE House Naval Affairs Committee was asked not to "tie the hands" of the Navy Department by confining Navy postgraduate studies to the Naval Academy, in testimony Thursday by Rear Adm. F. B. Upham, chief of the Bureau of Navigation, concluding hearings on proposed establishment of a branch postgraduate school at Berkeley, Calif.

Rear Admiral Upham declared the committee had given too much weight to suggested economies, and too little to the matter of morale, both intimately tied up with the shift.

The high cost of living at Annapolis, Md., finds reflection in a lowered morale of postgraduate students, which has a reflex influence on midshipmen attending the Academy, he told the committee.

He asked the committee to modify a resolution by Representative Stephen W. Gambrill (Democrat), Maryland, designed to forestall any transfer of postgraduate school functions from the Naval Academy.

Chairman Carl Vinson (Democrat), Georgia, told him to draft the modifications he thought necessary and submit them to the committee early next week, after which a vote will be taken on the question.

In the course of his testimony Rear Admiral Upham asserted that the Navy has no intention of transferring the entire postgraduate school from Annapolis to Berkeley. He said the project was originally considered, but transportation economies that could be effected by maintaining separate units at the two points persuaded the department to abandon the idea.

Following testimony by postgraduate school instructors, and Capt. Sadler, superintendent of the school, that unfurnished houses in Annapolis cost almost twice as much to rent as furnished houses on the West Coast, and that living expenses generally were higher in the East, Rear Admiral Upham took the stand to demand "liberty of action" in carrying out the project.

He said Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams and Adm. W. V. Pratt, chief of Naval Operations, both had signified their approval of establishment of the Berkeley branch, and would so testify before the committee if called.

He told the committee he had no criticism to make of Representative Gambrill in fighting the proposed shift; that his case was well presented, but designed primarily to satisfy his constituents.

Chairman Vinson indicated a vote may be had on the issue Tuesday.

Heads Asiatic Air Forces

ORDERS have been issued to Comdr. Patrick Neison Lynch Bellinger, USN, detaching him from command of the USS Wright, aircraft tender, about June 15 and appointing him as Commander, Aircraft, Asiatic Fleet, to succeed Comdr. Ernest D. McWhorter, USN. Commander Bellinger will sail in the USS Langley, aircraft carrier, which leaves the west coast to join the U. S. Adriatic Fleet in August. No orders have been issued for Commander McWhorter.

A pioneer in naval aviation, Commander Bellinger was ordered in 1912 to the naval aviation camp at Annapolis, Md., for flying instruction and was the eighth naval officer designated as naval aviator. During the occupation of Vera Cruz, Mexico, April, 1914, he was a member of an aviation unit attached to the USS Mississippi and participated in scouting over Vera Cruz and the trenches protecting that city. He assumed command of the Wright last summer.

A SECTION OF A LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO WAREHOUSE WHERE TOBACCOES ARE STORED TO AGE AND MELLOW

why Chesterfields are Better!

Just think what this means for Chesterfield smokers. It means that the larger part of 90 million dollars is invested in Domestic and Turkish tobaccos that are being properly aged in Nature's way, and cured so as to make them sweeter and milder.

CHESTERFIELD tobacco is packed in wooden casks, each containing about 1,000 pounds, and stored for two years in modern, up-to-date warehouses.

These warehouses, if placed end-to-end, would be about four miles in length. From floor to ceiling they are filled with these casks of fine tobacco, ageing in Nature's slow but sure way.

It takes a lot of money to make a good cigarette—money to buy good tobaccos and money to age them properly.

CHESTERFIELDS are milder, and taste better...there's a 90 million dollar reason why! Just try them!
